To Repeal Appropriation Granted By Congress to Dept. of Justice to Fight High Cost of Living

SAYS FUND USED TO AID PALMER

Sen. Kenyon Declares Little of the Appropriation Used to Fight H. C. L.

Declares He Will Demand That Appropriation Will be Repealed

ST. LOUIS, July 10.—Repeal of the appropriation granted by the last congress to the department of justice to fight the high cost of living will be demanded by Senator Kenyon on the ground that it was used primarily to boost Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer for the democratic presidential nomination, the senator announced today.

Senator Kenyon, chairman of the senate committee investigating presidential campaign expenditures, which is holding hearings here, said he was convinced that "little of this appropriation was used to fight the high cost of living."

MORE FREIGHT CARS FOR LOCAL SHIPPERS

Through the co-operation of George N. Shoy, general yardmaster of the Boston & Maine railroad in this city, the traffic bureau of the chamber of commerce has been able during the present week to secure appreciated accommodations for local shippers. In the four days from Tuesday to Friday, inclusive, no less than 370 box cars were sent out of the city bearing products of the city's industries. A few months ago barely a car was leaving the city.

Sixty-five cars were sent out on Tuesday, 60 on Wednesday, 65 on Thursday and 50 on Friday. Manager Whitcomb is compiling a shipping list of the local industries, giving their name, location, method of shipments and whether they are on a railroad siding. This will give the shipping activities of the city and will be invaluable in a plan which Mr. Whitcomb is about to develop whereby outgoing freight shipments may be pooled.

AMERICANS WIN DOUBLES MATCH

Johnson and Tilden Win Right to Continue Fight for Davis Tennis Cup

Defeated French Rivals in Straight Sets — Third Straight Victory

EASTBOURNE, July 10. (By Associated Press).—The American Davis cup tennis team today won the right to continue in the fight for the trophy. Johnson and Tilden, the American pair, defeated their French rivals, Gobert and Laurentz, in straight sets in the doubles matches. The victory gave the Americans three straight matches in the Davis cup elimination contest with the French team, eliminating the Frenchmen. Johnson yesterday won his singles match with Gobert, and Tilden defeated Laurentz. The victory in the doubles today clinched the match for the Americans without the necessity of playing either of the two singles matches remaining on the schedule. The Americans will meet the British team on July 15 to decide which shall play the Dutch team, the winner of this last match earning the right to play the cup holders, the Australasian team, for the trophy.

CLAY COURT TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIPS

CHICAGO, July 10.—First round matches in a record field of 173 singles players launched the 10th annual clay court tennis championships today, on the court of the South Side tennis club. Last year the entry list included 170 names. In the doubles competition, the 1920 tournament is considerably more inclusive than the 1919 event, for more than 60 teams are entered.

The tournament play for a few days will be restricted to contests in singles, the doubles class not being scheduled for full activity until next Tuesday.

Many of the stars drew first round byes, their competition not starting until the second bracket. This is the case with R. Lindley Murray, Howard Voshell and Vincent Richards.

Saturday Night

One of the old traditions of early Lowell was the old time Saturday Night Habit and the 8 o'clock Bell. Every one who walked down town all facing homeward for the day when the bells sounded 8 o'clock. The population still follows the habit of making Saturday Night the busy night of the week and these 8 o'clock bells still ring—but the busy habit is gone. Saturday Night at MIDDLESEX TRUST CO. has become one of the "nights" of our City. Lowell contains representatives of almost every People of the North and you find them all among the throng that comes to the MIDDLESEX on a Saturday Night.

GERMANS WANT LIST REDUCED

Say Delivery of All Accused Would Cause Collapse of German Government

Contentions Discussed by Commission of Allied and German Delegates

SPA, Belgium, July 9.—German contentions that the list of Germans accused of violations of the laws of war must be reduced if the collapse of the Berlin government is to be avoided were discussed by a commission, the members of which included representatives of Great Britain, Belgium, France, Italy and Germany. One of the German delegates was Dr. Carl Heinze, minister of justice.

Discuss Polish Question

SPA, Belgium, July 10.—The Polish question was the subject of a conversation yesterday between Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain and Premier Millerand of France. The two prime ministers considering what, if anything, could be done to help the Poles in their present military difficulty.

Premier Lloyd George is understood to have said that, in view of the agreement just concluded between Great Britain and the Russian soviet government, he did not feel disposed to do anything more than give diplomatic support to the Poles. Premier Millerand is reported as having replied that this being the case, France could not go further.

ADMITS KILLING WIFE AND TRAMP

Formal Charges of Murder to be Preferred Against Wanderer

Man Used by Murderer to Pose as Robber and Then be Slain Partly Identified

CHICAGO, July 10.—Formal charges of murder were prepared today by State's Attorney Hoyne to be preferred against Carl Wanderer, who confessed last night to the killing of his wife and a tramp.

The motive for the murders was first given by Wanderer as a desire to go back in the army free from marital ties. It was later revealed, according to the police, that he wished to inherit his wife's estate and did not intend to rob her.

In his confession, police said Wanderer declared that he deliberately shot to death his bride of a few months in the hallway and that he also shot an unwitting victim of his planning, a man, unnamed, whom he enticed there so he could kill him and then accuse him of having tried to rob him and his wife, who in two months would have become a mother.

The man used by Wanderer to pose as a robber and then be slain, was partly identified as William Noeth, who in 1911 or 1912 was employed by the Gentry Brothers circus while in South Bend, Ind.

ADMIRAL FISHER DEAD

Was First Baron of Kilverstone and Former First Lord of British Admiralty

LONDON, July 10.—Admiral John Arbuthnot Fisher, first baron of Kilverstone and former first lord of the Admiralty, died this morning. TEXTILE WORKERS WILL RAISE $1,000,000

The campaign for a million-dollar fund organized by the United Textile Workers of America, was launched in this city last evening, when at a regular meeting of the Lowell Textile council a committee was appointed to make arrangements for the taking of subscriptions in Lowell. This action was taken after the plan had been explained at length by John Hanley, a member of the executive board of the United Textile Workers, who had been requested to bring the matter to the attention of the council by the international officers.

In presenting the plan Mr. Hanley explained that the money will be used as a last line defense in the event of an attempt on the part of employers to take from the workers such concessions in wages and hours as they have obtained, and does not mean that the U.T.W. is planning any fight.

Mr. Hanley informed his colleagues

TRY TO FORM THIRD PARTY

Delegates of Committee of 48 and Single Taxers Meet at Chicago

All Night Conferences of Leaders Fail to Bring About Agreement

CHICAGO, July 10.—The committee of 48, assisted by fraternal delegates representing a half dozen liberal and radical organizations, launched the third party movement here today, in its national convention. Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin, determined in a mail referendum taken by the party to be the most popular candidate for the party's presidential nomination appeared to have no opposition as the delegates assembled. Nearly all of the 500 or 600 delegates wore La Follette badges.

Today's session was given over largely to addresses and organization work. Allen McCurdy of New York city made a keynote address that condemned the republican and democratic platforms and candidates and declared the time ripe for a new deal politically. The convention was more than an hour late in starting, delayed by prolonged conferences between representatives of the committee and organizations which are flirting with the third party combine.

Each of the groups, in the main, widely separated in their aims, came to Chicago with some pet plank for the third party platform, and the task of continuing all elements in a satisfactory fusion proved complicated. The railroad ownership question was a stumbling block. All elements are agreed they want public ownership for the carriers written into the platform, but differ materially on the degree of participation by the employees in the direction of control of the lines.

CHICAGO, July 10.—Delegates summoned to Chicago by the committee of 48 and representatives of the single tax movement got together today for the preliminaries of an attempt to nominate a fusion third party presidential candidate to run on a platform satisfactory to both elements.

Conferences continuing, nearly all night between the committee leaders and the active head of the national labor party, looking to further amalgamation, had not brought about agreement, however, and the single tax group also definitely announced that their participation in the first day session with the committee of 48 assembly was only tentative. It would not continue, Jerome C. Reis said in their behalf, if Senator La Follette of Wisconsin was not nominated.

COAL OPERATOR TALKS

Declares Adequate Facilities for Shipments the Principal Remedy

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Adequate facilities for coal shipments is the principal remedy for a normal speculative prices, J. O. A. Morrow, vice president of the National Coal association, today told the interstate commerce commission in making an appeal for a continuation of a 30-day priority order for open top cars at bituminous coal mines. Acute shortage of coal will prevail as long as there is an inadequate supply of cars at the mines, he asserted, adding that ample shipments of at least 545,000,000 tons of coal will of coal will decrease speculative prices required for the current year ending March 31, the witness stated, pointing out that much of this will be needed to make up a shortage of 15,000,000 tons that ordinarily would have been in reserve last April. Since that time, shipments from the mines have been 1,245,000 tons a week, below the requirements, making a total shortage of between 30,000,000 to 35,000,000 tons, he declared.

An average weekly production of 12,000,000 tons should be maintained until December 1, Mr. Morrow said, if the country is to have the aggregate production needed to make up the deficit and carry it through the winter. At present the weekly production is approximately 10,000,000 tons, he stated.

The witness denied that a great volume of export coal business has produced a shortage in this country. "The total export of bituminous coal to July 1, was only 8,000,000 tons," he said, "but in that time the total domestic shortage was approximately 35,000,000 tons."

An embargo on coal would be "a rank discrimination against the coal producer," Mr. Morrow testified, adding that it was not practical to prohibit overseas movement of coal, even if determined upon. Much coal, especially in the south, could not be utilized, except through export," he said.

OUR FUTURE OIL SUPPLY

Standard Oil President Discusses World Oil Problems for The Sun

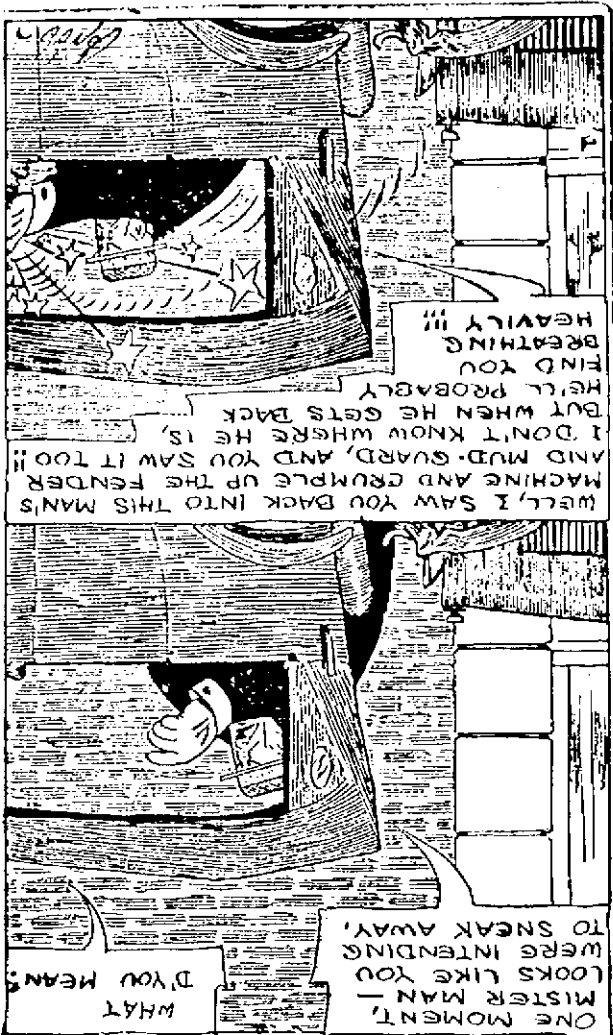

BY H. P. BURTON,
N.E.A. Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, July 10.—Three famous Englishmen have recently said these things about oil:

Admiral Fisher: "The oil engine will revolutionize commerce and alter the whole art of sea war."

Earl Curzon, British foreign secretary: "The allies floated to victory on a sea of oil."

Walter Hume Long, first lord of British admiralty: "If we secure the supply of oil now available in the world, we can do what we like. If others take it, with it goes the key of future national success."

By these words it is shown that coal, iron, copper and rubber—the old pressive to demand serious public consideration and construction action. "If we are not to leave our future oil supply to chance, but are to put ourselves upon an equal footing with the British oil companies in relation to their government, it is imperative that the government co-operate with the industry in grasping the situation and acting resolutely.

Far From World Control

"When, in 1914, the British oil interests, realizing the indispensability of oil to modern civilization, started their campaign to obtain the undeveloped oil fields of the world they were given every assistance their government could render, not only through political and diplomatic channels, but by financial backing. They are to be congratulated upon what they have accomplished, but they are far from controlling all of the world's potential oil supplies outside of this country.

"There is a broad difference between a producing field and a prospective one. Enthusiasm may be expected at all times from those who are financing new oil ventures. London financiers may sit in their offices, surrounded by specially colored maps, and confidently proclaim that they control 50 per cent of the world's potential oil territory outside of the United States, for the agile mind of the financier travels easily over the trials, delays, dangers and discouragements that intervene between negotiating a concession or a lease and the delivery of oil therefrom to the market.

"British interests have been charged with excluding alien companies from control of oil resources within the empire, but this must be qualified by recognition of the fact that large sections of the empire, being self-governing, have control over their own internal affairs.

"American leaders in the oil industry who have long looked to the future do not accept the extreme view that Great Britain in her control of so much potential territory has captured practically all future sources of supply outside of the United States. They know what circumstances must influence the ultimate outcome.

"But while England has been pushing her oil control to the furthest corner of the globe, the French, Dutch and Japanese have been conducting campaigns of lesser magnitude, but inspired by similar purpose.

"American-owned companies might "An account I read about 'Fruit-a-lives' or Fruit Liver Tablets in one of our newspapers prompted me to try this remedy.

I was all run down and work was burdensome owing to indigestion and fullness, due to gas on my stomach which caused me to belch a good deal. My heart seemed to be affected.

It was two years ago that I was in this condition and began the use of 'Fruit-a-lives'. Even though the trouble had been of a few years standing, the use of 'Fruit-a-lives' proved the very remedy I required. I was freed of the indigestion, which I attributed to my heart; and I can conscientiously recommend 'Fruit-a-lives' as a remedy of merit.

have gone further towards providing for our petroleum requirements of the future had the American government adopted a more progressive policy with regards to its nationals under foreign flags, but even under handicaps the men of vision and action in the American oil industry have obtained important holdings and concessions in Mexico, in South America and in Rumania. They have never hesitated to venture into the search for new oil production wherever opportunity offered and fair conditions obtained.

"Urges United States Speak Out
"It is my belief that the expression of disapproval, on the part of the United States, of selfish covenants and restrictive legislation by other nations would carry weight with foreign governments and give our companies an equal chance in these fields. Equal opportunities for the nationals of all countries characterized the development of our own natural resources and we therefore have a right to expect that similar freedom of action be extended to us.

"I fully agree with the statement made by the president of the American Petroleum Institute recently that oil is a world necessity, the production of which, wherever found, should be open to individual initiative to the end that its refined products, so fruitful in creating and assisting other forms of production, may gain the widest possible distribution.

"The American oil industry asks only the support of the nation in giving it an equal status, putting it upon an equal footing with the nationals of other countries in the development of the world's petroleum resources—and it asks this in the interest of the nation itself."

LOS ANGELES, July 9.—"But Bobbie's the best little imitator you ever saw. He'd make a dandy movie actor."

"Yes, my dear madam, I understand, but we've got thousands of children on the waiting list now and can't use another one.

And so it goes, from early morning until the director throws up his hands and quits. Daily scores of women, carrying infants in arms, or clinging to their skirts, bombard the movie studios here in an effort to get their embryonic geniuses on the screen.

"Just a chance—that's all they ask. Because it is the center of the motion picture industry, Los Angeles is annually attracting thousands of these proud and ambitious mothers, from every part of the United States, everyone of them obsessed with the determination to be the financial manager of a picture idol.

And the casting director—poor man—has to be a real diplomat because every one of them is convinced that her Bobbie or Dorothy would revolutionize the silent art if given an opportunity.

The majority of them are women whose exploitation of their children is actuated as much by avarice as by vanity.

"We have on an average of 100 women a month who come to register their youngsters for picture work," the casting director of one of the largest studios said.

"It is impossible to estimate the average number of children who appear in pictures in a year. Now, next week we are going to start a picture that will need 200 children. Then months may go by when we won't need a single one."

"One of the commonest reasons advanced by mothers for believing their children eligible, is that they are good 'imitators.' As a matter of fact a child's gift of mimicry is not a great qualification.

"The principal requirement is that they photograph well, and fit the part for which they are needed. Intelligence and natural talent are positive fundamentals in granting a youngster a try-out."

The latest scientific theory as to the age of the earth is "not above 70,000, 000 or below 55,000,000 years."

stages of diplomacy, the things for which nations fought—have been superseded, and that oil is the new prize in international poker. The economic sphere, in other words, has found that oil is the world's new driving power, needed alike for ships, trucks, trains, power plants and manufacturing, and so politics, which represent industry, must maneuver for this most powerful of national assets.

Where United States Stands

Where does the United States stand in this silent world war for oil, without which a nation of the future cannot exist? Is it true that soon we must buy our oil from the British empire, paying billions of dollars yearly to the oil magnates of London?

Perhaps the man best qualified to give the American people adequate answer to this question—to tell them just how important oil has become in the modern world, and how much of this power the United States controls—is Walter Teagle, the 40-year-old president of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, the greatest of all the Standard Oil companies.

This is what Teagle had to say in an exclusive interview he has just given me, the first authoritative word he has said on this important subject, touching, as it does, international relations in their tenderest spot:

War's Demonstration

"The world war, which was a demonstration of industry on an unprecedented scale, has shown us that the importance of oil in the future cannot be overestimated. Oil drove our submarines, our submarine chasers and many of our new battleships. Gasoline driven trucks transported our supplies and our armies, and gasoline fed our airplanes.

"Peace now finds the gas engine supreme in industry; transportation companies use it; farmers till their lands with it; and even the lumberman logs with it. And so, as the lack of oil handicaps a people in war or peace, it has now become a national question of no small importance to inquire just where the United States will get its future supply.

"America has been aroused lately by European financiers, who proclaim that British interests are in control of practically all of the visible and potential fields outside of the United States, and by the president's report to congress on May 17, 1920, which presented the problem as sufficiently important.

SEVEN BARKS

Nearly half a century is a long time to faithfully serve the public, but that is what SEVEN BARKS, one of nature's greatest remedies to mankind, has been doing.

SEVEN BARKS has not been extensively advertised, but has enjoyed a wonderful and steady sale for many, many years, and purely upon its merits.

To those who may not be acquainted with the value of SEVEN BARKS we would say that it is absolutely a harmless and remarkable remedy, made from the extracts of different kinds of roots and herbs, every one of which has great medicinal value, scientifically blended, and for many years has been a reliable remedy for indigestion, constipation, liver, kidney and stomach disorders.

SEVEN BARKS has saved thousands of families large doctor's bills, as well as untold suffering. It is inexpensive—only 60 cents per bottle—which will last a long time, as the dose is from 10 to 25 drops in a little water after meals.

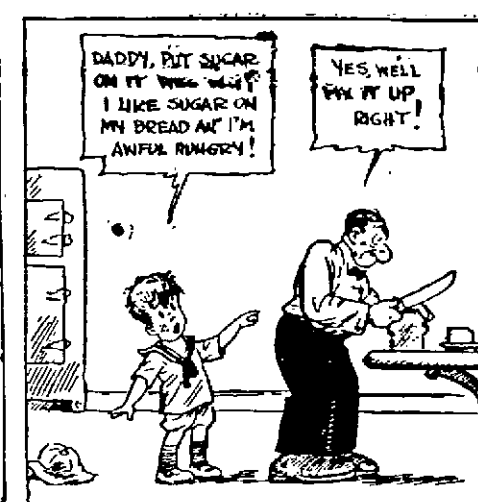

There is hardly a family but what some member is more or less frequently troubled with indigestion, liver or kidney disorder. If you have never tried SEVEN BARKS, do not fail to do so, and watch the rapid and wonderful results.

Don't put off asking your druggist for SEVEN BARKS. If he does not happen to have it on hand, he will get it for you.—Ad.

FOURTH OF JULY

Lowell Celebration of Independence Day Cost $1500

Lowell's Fourth of July celebration cost approximately $1500, according to Mayor Perry J. Thompson, who was designated by the municipal council to have general charge of the municipality's part in the observance. There are several bills still outstanding, but at a special meeting this morning the council voted to approve the payment of the majority of the bills contracted for the occasion.

The council also voted to approve the transfer of whatever balance is left from the Fourth of July appropriation to the general expense appropriation. Other monthly bills were approved at a session which lasted only 10 minutes. No other business was transacted.

NO GREAT RUSH OF VACATION TRAVEL

The hot weather did not produce any unusual rush of vacation travel out of Lowell today. Things went along about as usual on a summer Saturday at the railroad station. Ticket sellers were kept reasonably busy, but not abnormally so, passing out bits of cardboard in exchange for cold cash, and the baggage handlers went about their work without the hurry and bustle that sometimes characterizes a day when it seems as though almost everybody and his sisters, his cousins and his aunts had selected the same time for a start for the seashore or the mountains.

The three night expresses from New York to Maine that pass through Lowell in the early morning hours were filled to capacity today, but none of the trains was run in more than one section. In fact travel by this route is expected to continue along a fairly even level until the days following Labor day, when the usual rush from the north of parents who have children that they wish to get back to school will undoubtedly set in.

The Boston & Maine railroad began today to provide extra accommodations for the traffic that is expected will sweep over its lines to vacation resorts from now until September.

Beginning today train No. 9, leaving Boston at 11:30 a. m., and Lowell at 12:15 p. m., will be run in two sections every Saturday until further notice. The first section will run through to White Mountain points. The second section will leave the main line at Concord and continue its journey to stations on the Claremont branch, including Lake Umbagog and Newport, N. H.

Commencing tomorrow and continuing for the rest of the summer, Lowell people will run down to Boston for a day and find extra facilities provided for their return home late in the day. Train No. 325 that leaves Boston at 7 p. m. will be run in two sections. The first section will be an express train especially for the accommodation of Lowell people. It will make no stops between Boston and this city, and it will end its run here. The second section of this train will run to Montreal via White River Junction and the Central Vermont railroad.

Train No. 3373 will be run in two sections every Sunday until further notice. Its scheduled leave Lowell for Boston at 8:50 p. m. The first section will be made up in Lowell and will run via the Webber loop, stopping at Silver Lake, Webber and Winchester, and arriving at its destination at 9:45 p. m. The second section of the train will come from Concord, N. H., leaving that city at 7:15 p. m.

MORTALITY RATE SHOWS DECREASE

Lowell's mortality rate this week showed a slight decrease in comparison with that of the week before, although it was exactly the same as that of two weeks ago. Twenty-six deaths were reported, while there were 25 last week. The rates were 12.52 and 12.18, respectively. There were six deaths of children less than five years of age and five of these were of children less than a year old. Infectious diseases caused three deaths, pneumonia one and tuberculosis three.

Infectious diseases reported included 26 cases of measles, three of tuberculosis and one of typhoid fever.

In the early 1920s girls were employed as pages in both houses of the Kansas legislature.

SEVERE NEURALGIC PAINS DISAPPEAR

Many people, both men and women, are handicapped by neuralgic headaches which come on suddenly and last for hours. This form of headache is often a symptom of anemia or thin blood. It marks one of the stages in the progress of a disease which is frequently well advanced before it is discovered, because its victims are apt to disregard the preliminary warnings.

Other symptoms of anemia are loss of appetite, indigestion, sleeplessness, shortness of breath after slight exertion and extreme nervousness. If unchecked, anemia causes weakness and loss of weight, vigor and ambition.

If you have any or all of these symptoms, begin treatment now with a non-alcoholic tonic which will make the blood rich and plentiful, thereby giving it the food that is needed by starved nerves. Every part of the body will respond to the treatment, as was evident in the case of Mrs. Mary Scanlan, who lives at No. 156 Brooks street, East Boston, Mass.

"My trouble began shortly after the birth of my daughter," relates Mrs. Scanlan. "I was weak and just had to compel myself to keep going. I suffered from severe neuralgic headaches which seemed like hot, darting flashes across my head. My appetite was poor and when I forced myself to eat I suffered from indigestion. It seemed as though there was a weight on my stomach."

"I read about a case similar to mine being benefited by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills so I got a box. Within two weeks I was convinced that the pills were helping me. My appetite improved almost at once. Slowly I gained strength. My complexion improved and the headaches became less frequent and severe and finally disappeared entirely. I cannot say enough for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for I know they are a good tonic."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or direct from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., at 50 cents per box, postpaid. Write today for a copy of the free booklet, "Building Up the Blood."—Adv.

GOV. COX TO CAMPAIGN ON LEAGUE ISSUE

DAYTON, Ohio, July 10.—Gov. Cox, democratic candidate for president, will open his campaign in California, probably in San Francisco, soon after he is formally notified of his nomination.

Then, waging the same slashing, fighting sort of battles that three times have won him the governorship of Ohio, he will carry the campaign into every state of the Union, not missing a single city of any size.

The first few weeks will be devoted entirely to the west, with the governor eventually working eastward and finally invading New England, where he plans to speak in Boston and possibly one or two other cities.

The dominant note of his campaign will be the League of Nations.

"Fighting Jim" Cox is going to go direct to the people, and he is going to go to them with the League of Nations issue.

Gov. Cox will insist on a ratification not trespassing in any way on the principles of the pact, in any way emasculatory. He will contend that ratification was prevented by less than one-third of the senate, asserting that Senator Lodge was in a conciliatory mood when Senators Borah and Johnson threatened to bolt and that Lodge took the course he did thinking more of the welfare of the republican party than of the civilization of the world.

The governor will declare that the United States may sign the treaty with the distinct understanding that the nations are entering into concerted movement to preserve the peace of the world for no other purposes, that any other purpose arising, the United States could withdraw.

Secondly, he will declare that the United States, in participating in the league, shall go no further than the limitations of the constitution, calling attention to the fact that the right to declare war rests wholly with congress.

TWO JOBS OPEN AT THE Y. M. C. A.

Two good jobs are open for men with proper qualifications at the Lowell Y. M. C. A. For several weeks Secretary H. F. Howe has been conducting a still hunt in an endeavor to locate a properly qualified assistant general secretary and assistant boys' secretary. According to Mr. Howe, men fitted for the positions are hard to find. To be successful in either of the places a man must have had some experience in Y. M. C. A. work. Mr. Howe believes. He says that he would like to get Lowell men for the places, but that there are not any available who have had proper training. It is also possible that there may be a third vacancy in the staff of the local organization. Mr. Howe has been conducting negotiations for engaging a new dormitory secretary. He believes that he has the right man picked for the place, but he has not been definitely chosen yet.

The association made a new membership record in June, the number of names on its rolls now being the largest in the history of the organization. The fees from new memberships exceeded what has been counted on in making up the association's budget for the year.

OPPOSES SENDING JEWS TO PALESTINE

LONDON, July 10.—Proposals that half a million Jews be taken to Palestine within the next year, made by Dr. Max Nordau at today's session of the International Zionist conference, were sharply attacked by Dr. Charles M. Weissmann, who declared he favored a more moderate program.

"Such an undertaking," Dr. Weissmann declared, "is impossible. The difficulty is not with the British government nor the San Remo conference nor the Zionist organization but with the Jews, who have failed to rise to the situation produced by decisions reached at San Remo. When Jews are prepared to sacrifice their flesh, blood and treasure to the maximum extent, then they may undertake to settle half a million of their race in Palestine within a year. The question is not what the Zionist leaders or the British have done, but what Jews have done."

The conference adjourned until Monday.

MOTORCYCLE COPS DON NEW UNIFORMS

Lowell's motorcycle officers have donned their new khaki uniforms in accordance with permission recently granted them by Mayor Thompson. The only vestige of their former blue uniform which the motorcycle men retain is the regulation police hat. It was impossible to keep the old blue uniforms in a neat condition owing to the nature of the work in which the men were engaged; hence, the mayor's readiness to allow them to wear more appropriate clothing.

BIG ULSTER CELEBRATION

20,000 Expected to March in Orangemen's Parade in Belfast Monday

BELFAST, July 10.—Confidence that order will not be disturbed on Monday, notwithstanding elaborate preparations for the celebration of the anniversary of the battle of the Boyne, is expressed by officials here, despite the sensitive condition of public feeling.

Demonstrations have been forbidden in the city itself, but arrangements have been made for a great mass meeting at a park four miles distant, to which all processions will lead. It is expected that 20,000 persons will march in the Orangemen's parade, and that delegates from Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and the United States will attend.

Sir Edward Carson, the Unionist leader of Ulster, will be the chief speaker, and will propose a resolution appealing to the government to "deal resolutely with the cruel and treacherous warfare being carried on in Ireland," and pledging Ulster men to "ever do their duty as loyal British citizens if called upon."

Among the other resolutions will be one expressing the determination of Orangemen to "defend the civil and religious liberties for which their ancestors fought at the Boyne river."

Several detachments of soldiers in full equipment were detained at suburban stations yesterday and marched into the city. The city council at a meeting yesterday, defeated a proposal to close saloons on Monday, the vote being 25 to 27. Public meetings on Monday have been forbidden in Londonderry.

OLYMPIC SWIMMING TRYOUTS

CHICAGO, July 10.—National Olympic tryouts in nine swimming events draw many of the best known swimmers in the country here today. Because of the large entry list, opportunities to qualify will be given both today and Sunday. It was announced.

The Pacific coast clubs and Honolulu are strongly represented in each event and several men have entered from the army and navy.

CARPENTIER SAILS

THE COAL SITUATION

John N. Cole, state commissioner of public works, is using his influence at Washington to secure more coal for New England. If there is anything in a name, he should have some success.

From what was brought out at the hearing before the Interstate Commerce commission before which Mr. Cole appeared, it was plain that this very powerful commission is trifling with the vital interests of the people of New England and other parts of the country in refusing to stop exports of coal.

If the commission fails, the president should interfere in order to avert a calamity in the closing down of great industries for lack of fuel.

It was testified that the exports of coal have trebled in the last three years and the coal operators evidently do not care what loss or inconvenience the people of New England or elsewhere suffer so long as they themselves, have an opportunity to sell their coal at a high price to foreign purchasers.

The Interstate Commerce commission is thus complicating the situation not only by allowing the coal to be shipped out of the country, but by failure to force better transportation facilities.

The latter condition would be improved by an early announcement of the increase in freight rates, for which the roads have been waiting.

The coal operators recently put up a big fight before the anthracite mine commission against publicity of their accounts, showing the volume of business, the revenue and profit of the various companies. There is little doubt that these companies have been engaged in profiteering on coal and they should be brought to trial and punished.

It is just as well to realize now, that if there should come any industrial depression due to a lack of coal, the administration will be blamed and the democratic party will be held responsible by the people. That is why the White House should take a hand in straightening out this coal shortage. It is on record that New England firms have bought coal west of Pittsburgh in hopes that they could get it shipped more readily from that point than by the regular New England routes. We are face to face with a crisis in which New England has to beg for a coal supply while during the first five months of this year, the exports of coal amounted to 5,726,000 tons.

This is on a par with the export of food which raised the prices in the home market, and the increase was attributed to profiteers. If the supply is sent out of the country it is not the fault of the local dealers if the price goes up. The exporters are the profiteers. Whose business is it to stop this robbery of the American people? This is a question that will have to be answered quickly and in the interest of the people if the most serious consequences are to be averted.

THE PERPETUAL CARE FUND

Whatever may be the legal aspects—and it would seem possible that there may be points of law involved—of the proposal to take a large sum from the hands of the commission charged with supervision of the city's public cemeteries and place it at the disposal of the sinking fund commission to meet a shortage of $75,000 which, it is announced, may reach $150,000 within the year, there would seem to be some very practical reasons why the proposed transfer should not be made.

The people of the city have in mind what happened in the case of the Nesmith fund. This fund was left to the city on the condition that the city should pay six per cent interest in perpetuity to trustees who should expend the income for charitable purposes. In an emergency the city appropriated the principal of the fund for other uses, illegally of course, and upon that illegal act is based another equally illegal, in stopping the payment of interest.

Of course nothing of the kind may happen to the money that has been left in the hands of the cemetery commissioners to secure the perpetual care of lots in which loved ones of contributors to the fund are resting in their last abode. The effect of the transfer of the

SHREWD JOHN BULL

While the nations of Europe are in a state of disorganization approaching anarchy or chaos, the agents of Great Britain, according to recent cable dispatches, are going about arranging to secure business agreements by larger or other means that will place these nations under an obligation to trade with Britain in the future. England is seeking commercial conquest of Europe and she can attain her object in this respect more easily now than if the various nations with which she deals, had fully recovered from the effects of the war. A recent dispatch says:

While Americans are running about the face of Europe on every conceivable variety of charitable and humanitarian errand, the British are sticking to business, and they are getting what they want.

Britain is making friends of all the new buffer states on the west of Russia and she has also extended her commercial agencies to soviet Russia. This British policy, of course, is what is to be expected, but we simply call attention to this situation to show that while our chief rival in world trade is establishing herself quite strongly in commercial relationship with nearly all the countries of Europe, we are wasting time in empty talk and have been doing that now for over a year and a half.

John Bull is again giving the world another demonstration of his financial and commercial shrewdness.

AS AN "UNDERMAN"

Governor Cox says: "If I should become president of the nation, I feel that I possess one equipment—that I would not give for any other—that I lived through the life of the underman."

It is evident from these words that the democratic nominee has a genius for putting ideas bluntly into clear cut, understandable form. He has been, what he calls, an "underman" and he isn't ashamed of it, but, although he has climbed to a position of high standing and power, he still retains a remembrance of the days when he was one of the world's humble toilers, and he retains in some measure their point of view of the problems of life and of society.

If he takes his place in the White House, as now seems probable, he will carry with him intelligent sympathies for the larger portion of his fellow countrymen that may bring him the enmity of big business which would direct the functions of government to their own private uses.

There is special need of such a man at the helm of the ship of state at this time—a man who can sympathize with the aspirations of the many as would be impossible for a president who had not himself lived through the common experiences of the so-called "underman."

THE BEST POLICY

Mill operatives who may be given a choice between a prolonged shut down and a curtailment to three days a week or something of that kind should accept the latter as preferable. A complete shut down for a month or two is a very serious matter under present living conditions.

Now that the democratic party has made an appeal for the ratification of the suffrage amendment, the republican leaders are put in a strenuous drive to get the credit of furnishing the 36th state to complete the ratification. Vermont is relied upon to take early action to help the republican cause and one democratic state will probably ratify the amendment early in August, if present plans do not miscarry.

The republicans are now trying to unearth a scandal on the democratic side as bad or nearly so as the rottenness shown in connection with General Wood's campaign. They are already trying to show that in certain parts of the south all the negroes who dare to vote the republican ticket are moved away and never seen again.

The boulevard is no place for a dance hall. No license should be issued for any such purpose on the boulevard. Some of the dance halls in the business districts are bad enough but on the boulevard, it would be difficult to prevent the worst forms of indecency.

Judging by the results of population recounts in other places, Lowell people can settle down with reasonable confidence that the number of inhabitants ascribed to the city by census enumerators is fairly correct.

A committee of alienists would seem to be desirable to pass on the qualifications of delegates to the convention of third party cranks, quacks, and political lunatics now in session at Chicago.

VERY POLITE OF HIM

The atmosphere of the smoking car lent itself to reminiscence.

"Captain," asked the hardware salesman, "would you mind telling me how you lost your arm?"

"Not at all, not at all," replied the bronzed officer with the empty sleeve. "It happened this way: We were due for another turn in the trenches the next day, so they were giving a dance for us that night back in the rest camp. A few welfare workers were there, and among them was the cutest little girl I ever met. I managed to dance with her most of the evening, and toward the end we wandered out in the moonlight."

"Captain," she said, after a while, "please remove your arm."

"And you know, she was such a little queen, I just couldn't refuse her."

For the sea will never need you.

If you ask for the reason of every command
And argue with people about you
Willie, my son, don't you go on the land
For the land will do better without you.

If you stop to consider the work you have done
And to boast what your labor is worth, dear
Angels may come for you, Willie, my son,
But you'll never be wanted on Earth, dear.

SEEN AND HEARD

"Men are polished, through act and speech. Each by each. As pebbles are smoothed on the rolling beach."

One-piece bathing suits have been passed by censorship. And now the optician's business will be overworked.

I see, said Hoot Mon, that search warrants are being used to hunt for liquor. Why not call in a few rum-hounds to trail it down.

Evidently the omnibus carrying up prices hasn't a reverse gear. Called for a bottle of milk in a help-yourself restaurant yesterday and got a little bottle that didn't hold quite as much as the ordinary drinking glass. The price was 10 cents and up till a few weeks ago that same restaurant sold a pint of milk for ten cents. Milk retails at something like 16 or 17 cents a quart and to charge ten cents a glass is getting dangerously close to the profiteering line.

Comets and Bills

"What's this, my dear?" asked Prof. Diggs, absent-mindedly.

"Why, it's the grocery bill," said Mrs. Diggs. "Our groceryman says it's overdue."

"So is that comet. I've been expecting it to put in an appearance for the last ten days. I'm not to blame, I hope," said the professor, and calmly resumed his studies.

Nature Always Right

Nature, we are informed, does things right, with never a mistake, doing what should be done, and leaving undone the things which ought not to be done. Nature is perfection; it is the last word in efficiency, excellence, accomplishment. Is that so? It is nature, isn't it, that piles ice high at the North Pole where it is cold enough already, and arranges it so you have none in your refrigerator where it is most needed? It is nature, isn't it, that makes the guy who wants to be fat, lean, and vice versa, or even worse than that? We'll tell Uncle Sam so.

Prohibition Effects

The wives of two Muncie factory workmen were discussing the effect of prohibition on their husbands.

"When John comes home on Saturday noons nowadays with his pay envelope and turns it over to me," said one, "I always deals him out 50 cents for spendin' money and he spends it for himself."

"And what did he do in the old saloon days?" asked the other.

"In them terrible days," said the first, "when John turned over to me his pay envelope on Saturday noons, I used to give him 50 cents for a little spendin' money for himself, and soon he'd be back with a growler of beer for the two of us, bless his heart."—Indianapolis News.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Before going off on your automobile trip tomorrow for a day's pleasure it might be well for you to consider how you will return, whether in your own auto, safe and sound, or in an ambulance or an undertaker's wagon. Reckless drivers should carry in their pockets in an envelope, a written statement something like this: My name is —, residence —, if I am killed or sent unconscious to a hospital away from home notify —.

Charge all expenses to —.

This may be regarded as a cold blooded proposition, but it is a precaution that has proved very necessary in hundreds of cases in which speed maniacs and other foolish people put in charge of high powered machines on the public highways, have dashed to death, in many instances killing others as well as themselves.

Young men who want to improve their education should get ready to take up college extension courses in the fall. There will be courses offered in English composition, accounting, elementary and advanced, applied mathematics, business English, history, conversational French, public speaking, gasoline automobiles and various others. Registration will be conducted through the office of the superintendent of schools.

The attention of Commissioner Salmon is respectfully called to the fence around, Fels park in Riverside street, which protrudes out on the sidewalk at a point near the residence of Patrick O'Hearn. It may be that boys have knocked the fencing askew, but in any event, it is showing signs of dilapidation and a little repairing will straighten out the line before it falls on somebody and the city is called upon to pay damages. Fels park is a pretty little spot, named after and laid out in memory of the late August Fels and hence the desire of Pawtucketville folks to have it kept neat and presentable. I understand it is up to the water department to take care of it.

In this column a short time ago were given some rules of a famous swimming coach for the guidance of people who happen to get into the water in the summer time who cannot swim. There was one rule, perhaps the most important of all, that happened to be omitted. It is: Don't lose your head. The human body under normal conditions is more buoyant than water. In other words, like the widely advertised brand of soap, it floats. If a person who is unable to swim tumbles overboard, or inadvertently gets beyond his depth while bathing, if he will keep perfectly quiet, throwing the head back a trifle to secure balance, without making the slightest motion, he will float almost indefinitely. Salt water is of course much more buoyant than fresh water, and it is possible to lie outstretched upon the surface of the ocean with as much comfort as on the downiest of couches. The same is only a little less true of fresh water. Fear is what causes most people who get into water beyond their depth to drown. If this fear, which has no real cause, could be banished, and people in positions that they believe dangerous could view their predicaments as calmly as though they were standing on shore and reason about what it would be best to do there would not be many deaths by drowning for the newspapers to record. Getting overboard with a complete outfit of clothes on is of course another proposition. But even in such cases the clothes imprison considerable air for a while and serve as to preservers.

EXPERT TALKS ON PLAYGROUND WORK

Miss Louise French, an expert in recreational activities, associated with the National Community service and at present in Lowell to assist in the work of the girls' club of the Lowell Community service, addressed the playground teachers and supervisors of the park department in the auditorium chamber at city hall late yesterday afternoon.

The Community service and park department are co-operating in making the playgrounds as attractive as possible to children in all sections of the city. Miss French emphasized the need of organized work on the various playgrounds so that each ground will be working along the same general lines as the others. She also spoke of baseball and volleyball leagues and various other details that enter into the playground teacher's work. She suggested that each day's work on the playgrounds be opened with patriotic exercises as a part of the general Americanization program now being carried on.

Following their talk Miss French answered questions from the teachers and later a committee consisting of the head supervisors on each playground was appointed to make arrangements for the closing exercises of the season in September.

Mayor Perry D. Thompson also addressed the supervisors and assured them of his co-operation and assistance at all times in the excellent and valuable work which they were carrying on.

The speakers were introduced by Clarence M. Wood, chairman of the park commission. The supervisors will meet next Friday afternoon at city hall at 4:30.

HOLY NAME SOCIETY

The Holy Name society of St. Michael's parish will receive communion in a body at the 8 o'clock mass tomorrow morning. Inasmuch as the ranks of the society were largely augmented after the recent mission, it is expected that there will be a record-breaking attendance at tomorrow's service.

Besides the birds, there are numerous insects which attack the fruit, and leaves of the olive tree.

LOWELL MAN BACK FROM CONVENTION

David A. Hartnett of this city has returned from Mooseheart, Ill., where he took part in the convention held by the Loyal Order of the Moose. Mrs. Hartnett accompanied her husband on the trip west and both had an enjoyable trip. Mr. Hartnett speaks interestingly of the west and especially of Mooseheart.

"The community of Mooseheart," he says, "is unique. When members of the order die, leaving dependent children, the Moose lodge steps in and gives the children a home and education. The Moose are prepared to give them high school educations and each child may select a trade out of the 20 vocational courses taught."

"An interesting reflection of the ideas of the Moose," continued Mr. Hartnett, "is their buildings which are thoroughly fireproof, sanitary and safe for children. All permanent buildings are made of concrete block and the rooms are bright, sunny and scrupulously clean. The concrete blocks are made at Mooseheart by students, and a great deal of the actual construction work is done by Mooseheart students under expert direction. They build their own home and at the same time they learn a trade."

"During the convention the $125,000 Philadelphia Memorial hospital given by the Philadelphia lodge, and built with the famous Mooseheart concrete block, was dedicated. Funds were secured for five additional buildings. There were many interesting addresses among which was one by Ambassador Sharp."

HARDING TO COX

SAYS IT'S UP TO THE LORD TO GIVE HIM JOB

BROCKTON, July 10.—Rev. Harper H. Mitchell of the North Baptist church, who resigned several weeks ago and since then has been asked by a large number of parishioners to reconsider his decision, made it very emphatic yesterday that he would go through with his resignation, and at the same time indicated plainly that there has been trouble within the parish.

"According to Scripture," he said, "I should do one of two things, clean out the 'mixed multitude,' which I believe cannot be done in this church, or else separate myself from the mixed multitude. This I am doing. Those who want worldly amusements, pleasures, suppers, sales and the like should go to a church that has such things. Those who want the teachings I have been giving should join the Olivet Memorial church."

"I am going to withdraw from the apostate Baptist denomination. I am working for the Lord Jesus Christ and it is up to Him to give me a job. I am not worrying but what He will."

FLOWERS AND FRUITS FOR THE HOSPITALS

It was decided yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the committees of the Girls' Community club, recently appointed to have charge of the distribution of flowers and fruits to the hospitals and other institutions in the city, that the work would begin some time during next week. Surplus vegetables, fruits and flowers will be asked for in circular letters to be sent out to citizens in all sections of the city. All gifts of flowers and so on should be addressed or delivered personally to Miss Bawla Laverick.

"Flowers picked early in the morning, freshened with water and mailed in the afternoon, will reach the Community club in a fresh condition. "Fruits should be sent in pasteboard cartons or substantial boxes.

Those on the committee are: Mrs. John K. Whittier, Mrs. Lewis E. Mac-Brayne, Mrs. J. L. Russell, Miss Alice Sullivan, Miss Helen Hogan and Dr. Mary A. Dover.

LOWELL POST OF AMERICAN LEGION

At a meeting of the executive and nominating committees of the Lowell post of the American Legion last evening at which Post Commander Luther W. Faidtner presided, a list of names for the Lowell delegation to the Springfield convention in August was reported. These names will be presented at the Monday night meeting. Congressman John Jacob Rogers will be the principal speaker at the next meeting. Chairman O'Grady of the committee in charge of the barbecue to be held in Thompson's grove, Wilmington, July 31, reported that already many posts from Middlesex, Essex and Suffolk counties have signified their intentions of taking part. This will be the first fair of the kind to be conducted by the legion.

BOY SCOUTS BREAK CAMP

Twenty-six boy scouts of the Chelmsford Street Baptist church of Troop 15 returned today from a week's camping trip at Koyas pond in Westford. Scoutmaster Carl Hilton was assisted by assistant scoutmasters Pearl Durrell, Lewis Hilton, William Radcliffe and Paul Swanson. Rev. Elmer F. West, the pastor of the church, was the cook of the camp. During the week Paul Swanson was the lucky shepherd for he caught a 10-inch pickerel.

NEWS OF THE DAY IN POLICE COURT

Miss Margaret M. Dean, arrested yesterday afternoon by Policewoman Miss Emily Skilton for larceny on July 5 from Miss Gladys Ingram of the local Y.W.C.A. of waists and other articles was arraigned in police court this morning and held for disposition until July 17.

The defendant had escaped from some asylum and was apprehended by the Lawrence police who put her in the care of an organization in that city. She got away from her wards, however, and came to this city. She had been engaged to a soldier. Her home is in Waterbury, Conn.

George Danas was fined $25 for operating an automobile without a license. George has two brothers and all three look very much alike. Surrendering himself to the arresting officer as George, he took advantage of the three names and contradicted himself many times on the witness stand saying that he was James P. Danas.

When asked for his license he produced a card addressed to James P. and then, to make things clearer, he declared that he was James P. Danas. The court became impatient and ordered the fine with the admonition that in the future he should know for a certainty who he was.

Walter Naum, charged with non-support of his wife was ordered to pay $15 per week to the probation officer under suspended sentence of five months in the house of correction. Through counsel he appealed the decision and was ordered to furnish bonds of $200 for superior court.

BODY RECOVERED IN SILVER LAKE

The body of Paul Orlando, aged 28 years, a resident of Somerville, who drowned while bathing in Silver Lake, Wilmington, last Sunday, was found floating in the lake Thursday by Elmer P. Melnar. The remains were viewed by Medical Examiner R. B. Purley of Melrose and later taken to the home of the father of the deceased, Philip Orlando, 380 Lowell avenue, Somerville. The young man with two companions went to Silver Lake last Saturday afternoon to spend the week-end and the trio occupied a cottage on Cypress street. Sunday noon he went in bathing and some time later his companions found his clothes on the shore. The lake was dragged in the early part of the week, but with no result. Deceased was employed by his father as a hairdresser.

LOCAL FANS FLOCK TO SPALDING PARK

Ideal baseball weather and widespread interest in the series served to attract a large crowd of fans to Spalding park this afternoon for the second of the five-game series between the Knights of Columbus and Pitts' South Ends. Determined to reverse the result of the first encounter last Monday when they were defeated, 3 to 1, the South End players began today's game strengthened by the addition of McMahon and White. Cawley and Scully were the most likely looking mound choices for the Knights while Manager Lyons of the South Ends had both McCarthy and Devlin warming up before the game.

In Corfu, sheets of ordinary paper pass for money.

LEGAL NOTICES

Commonwealth of Massachusetts—Middlesex, ss. Probate Court.
To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, creditors, and all other persons interested in the estate of Thomas Egan, deceased, Intestate:
Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased to Joseph P. Egan of Lowell, in said County, or to some other suitable person.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Lowell in said County, on the twentieth day of July, A.D. 1920, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And the petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in The Lowell Sun, a newspaper published in Lowell, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, postpaid, a copy of said citation to all the heirs-at-law of said deceased seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, George P. Lawton, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this second day of July in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty.

To Repeal Appropriation Granted By Congress to Dept. of Justice to Fight High Cost of Living

SAYS FUND USED TO AID PALMER

Sen. Kenyon Declares Little of the Appropriation Used to Fight H. C. L.

Declares He Will Demand That Appropriation Will be Repealed

ST. LOUIS, July 10.—Repeal of the appropriation granted by the last congress to the department of justice to fight the high cost of living will be demanded by Senator Kenyon on the ground that it was used primarily to boost Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer for the democratic presidential nomination, the senator announced today.

Senator Kenyon, chairman of the senate committee investigating presidential campaign expenditures, which is holding hearings here, said he was convinced that "little of this appropriation was used to fight the high cost of living."

Charge Denied

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Howard Figg, special assistant to the attorney general in the high cost of living campaign, issued a statement today denying charges of Miss Olivia Brueggemann before the senate committee investigating committee at St. Louis yesterday that the high cost of living campaign had been used to further Attorney General Palmer's campaign for the democratic nomination for the presidency. He also denied that Miss Brueggemann had been dismissed from the Missouri living cost campaign bureau because she was a republican.

MORE FREIGHT CARS FOR LOCAL SHIPPERS

Through the co-operation of George K. Shay, general yardmaster of the Boston & Maine railroad in this city, the traffic bureau of the chamber of commerce has been able during the present week to secure appreciated accommodations for local shippers. In the four days from Tuesday to Friday, inclusive, no less than 270 box cars were sent out of the city's loading products of the city's industries. A few months ago barely a car was leaving the city.

Sixty-five cars were sent out on Tuesday, 60 on Wednesday, 65 on Thursday and 58 on Friday. Manager Whitcomb is compiling a shipping list of the local industries, giving their name, location, method of shipments and whether they are on a railroad siding. This will give the traffic bureau a handy guide of the shipping activities of the city and will be invaluable in a plan which Mr. Whitcomb is about to develop whereby outgoing freight shipments may be pooled.

AMERICANS WIN DOUBLES MATCH

Johnson and Tilden Win Right to Continue Fight for Davis Tennis Cup

Defeated French Rivals in Straight Sets — Third Straight Victory

EASTBOURNE, July 10. (By Associated Press.)—The American Davis cup tennis team today won the right to continue in the fight for the trophy. Johnston and Tilden, the American pair, defeated their French rivals, Gobert and Laurentz, in straight sets in the doubles matches. The victory gave the Americans three straight matches in the Davis cup elimination contest with the French team, eliminating the Frenchman. Johnston and Tilden won his singles match with Gobert, and Tilden defeated Laurentz. The victory in the doubles today clinched the match for the Americans without the necessity of playing either of the two singles matches remaining on the schedule. The Americans will meet the British team on July 15 to decide which shall play the Dutch team, the winner of this last match earning the right to play the cup holders, the Australian team, for the trophy.

Saturday Night

One of the old traditions of early Lowell was the old time Saturday Night Bell and the 8 o'clock bells. Every one while, walked down town, all facing homeward for the day, when the bells sounded 8 o'clock. The tradition still follows. The habit of making Saturday Night the busy night of the week—and those 8 o'clock bells still ring—but the bell habit is gone. Saturday Night at MIDDLESEX TRUST CO. has become one of the "bright" of our City. Lowell contains representatives of almost every People of the Earth and you find them all among the throng that comes to the MIDDLESEX on a Saturday Night.

GERMANS WANT LIST REDUCED

Say Delivery of All Accused Would Cause Collapse of German Government

Contentions Discussed by Commission of Allied and German Delegates

SPA, Belgium, July 9.—German contentions that the list of Germans accused of violations of the laws of war must be reduced if the collapse of the Berlin government is to be avoided were discussed by a commission, the members of which included representatives of Great Britain, Belgium, France, Italy and Germany. One of the German delegates was Dr. Carl Heinze, minister of justice.

Discuss Polish Question
SPA, Belgium, July 10.—The Polish question was the subject of a conversation yesterday between Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain and Premier Millerand of France, the two prime ministers considering what, if anything, could be done to help the Poles in their present military difficulty.

Premier Lloyd George is understood to have said that, in view of the agreement just concluded between Great Britain and the Russian soviet government, he did not feel disposed to do anything more than give diplomatic support to the Poles. Premier Millerand is reported as having replied that this being the case, France could not go further.

ADMITS KILLING WIFE AND TRAMP

Formal Charges of Murder Preferred Against Carl Wanderer at Chicago

Man Used by Murderer to Pose as Robber and Then be Slain Partly Identified

CHICAGO, July 10.—Formal charges of murder were prepared today by State's Attorney Hoyne to be preferred against Carl Wanderer, who confessed last night to the killing of his wife and a tramp.

The motive for the murders was first given by Wanderer as a desire to go back in the army free from marital ties. It was later revealed, according to the police, that he wished to inherit his wife's estate and did not intend to rob her.

In his confession, police said Wanderer declared that he deliberately shot to death his bride of a few months in the hallway and that he also shot an unwitting victim of his planning, a man, unarmed, whom he enticed there so he could kill him and then accuse him of having tried to rob him and his wife, who in two months would have become a mother.

The man used by Wanderer to pose as a robber and then be slain, was partly identified as William Noeth, who in 1911 or 1912 was employed by the Gentry Brothers circus while in South Bend, Ind.

The ragged stranger killed by Carl Wanderer was partly identified today as Al Watson, said to be the son of a New York "millionaire turfman."

ADMIRAL FISHER DEAD

Was First Baron of Kilverstone and Former First Lord of British Admiralty

LONDON, July 10.—Admiral John Arbuthnot Fisher, first baron of Kilverstone and former first lord of the Admiralty, died this morning. Lord Fisher underwent a serious operation yesterday and failed to rally.

Lord Fisher began his naval career in 1874, and while on active service he took part in the Crimean, Chinese and Egyptian wars. He became lord of the Admiralty in 1892 and first sea lord of the Admiralty in 1904, which post he held six years.

TEXTILE WORKERS WILL RAISE $1,000,000

The campaign for a million-dollar fund organized by the United Textile Workers of America, was launched in this city last evening, when at a regular meeting of the Lowell Textile council a committee was appointed to make arrangements for the taking of subscriptions in Lowell. This action was taken after the plan had been explained at length by John Hanley, a member of the executive board of the United Textile Workers, who had been requested to bring the matter to the attention of the council by the international officers.

In presenting the plan Mr. Hanley explained that the money will be used as a last line defense in the event of an attempt on the part of employers to take from the workers such concessions in wages and hours as they have obtained, and does not mean that the U.T.W. is planning any fight.

Mr. Hanley informed his colleagues

Wife of Richard H. Long and Aviator Hurlled to Death Before Big Crowd at Beach

SALISBURY BEACH, July 10.—Mrs. Richard H. Long, of Framingham, wife of the democratic candidate for governor last year, and Gordon L. Groah of Lynn, an aviator, were fatally injured in an airplane accident here today. Gaslon Cornet of Pittsfield, mechanic for Groah, was severely hurt. The plane in which Mrs. Long was a passenger and Groah the pilot, was wrecked on the beach in the sight of several thousand persons. Mrs. Long and Groah died at the Anna Jacques hospital at Newburyport.

The plane had flown over Hampton and Salisbury beaches on the course which Groah used for his sight-seeing and stunt flights. It was only a few hundred feet off the ground, over the beach here, when it went into a nose dive and came spinning down toward the gaping crowds. The flyer did not have altitude enough within which to regain control and the plane crashed on the beach. Out of the crumpled wreck, Mrs. Long was taken unconscious and barely alive, and was hastened to the Anna Jaques hospital with the pilot, who appeared to be only slightly hurt. Both died within a short time, however. Cornet's injuries were said to be painful, but not serious.

TRY TO FORM THIRD PARTY

Delegates of Committee of 48 and Single Taxers Meet at Chicago

All Night Conferences of Leaders Fail to Bring About Agreement

CHICAGO, July 10.—The committee of 48, assisted by fraternal delegates, representing a half dozen liberal and radical organizations, launched the third party movement here today, in its national convention.

Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin, determined in a mail referendum taken by the party to be the most popular candidate for the party's presidential nomination appeared to have no opposition as the delegates assembled. Nearly all of the 500 or 600 delegates wore La Follette badges.

Today's session was given over largely to addresses and organization work. Allen McCurdy of New York city made a keynote address that condemned the republican and democratic platforms and candidates and declared the time ripe for a new deal politically. The convention was more than an hour late in starting, delayed by prolonged conferences between representatives of the committee and organizations which are flirting with the third party combine.

Each of the groups, in the main, widely separated in their aims, came to Chicago with some pet plank for the third party platform, and the task of continuing all elements in a satisfactory fusion proved complicated.

The railroad ownership question was a stumbling block. All elements are agreed they want public ownership for the carriers written into the platform, but differ materially on the degree of participation by the employees in the direction of control of the lines.

While the leaders conferred members of several groups, equipped with soap box platforms and temporary tables, set up shop in the corridors to expound platform planks.

Above the speaker's stand was an American flag done in electric lights, which were turned on as J. A. H. Hopkins, national chairman of the committee of 48, came to the platform.

Hopkins was followed to the platform by McCurdy and Miss Melinda Alexander of Washington, assistant secretary of the committee of 48.

CHICAGO, July 10.—Delegates summoned to Chicago by the committee of 48 and 10 representatives of the single tax movement got together today in the preliminaries of an attempt to nominate a fusion third party presidential candidate to run on a platform satisfactory to both elements.

Gov. Cox to Clean up Affairs at Dayton and Return to Executive Office

Sen. Harding Meets Gen. Wood and Chairman Hays for Conferences Today

DAYTON, Ohio, July 10.—Governor Cox, democratic candidate for president, is making a strenuous effort to get affairs in shape here so that he may return to the executive office at Columbus, Monday morning. A number of clerks are busy with the stacks of telegrams and letters of congratulation getting them in shape to be answered.

The governor has no conferences scheduled for today.

The governor today corrected published statements that he is of English-Irishman extraction. He stated that his parents were of English and Scotch descent.

Poles Flee From Brest, Litovsk, Vilna and Pinsk, Says Report

Indicates Withdrawal of Polish Line to Frontiers of New Republic

PARIS, July 10.—Polish forces are withdrawing from Brest-Litovsk, Vilna and Pinsk as a result of the great Russian bolshevik offensive, according to a telegram received by the newspaper L'Information, this morning.

Evacuation of Brest-Litovsk, Vilna and Pinsk would seem to indicate a general withdrawal of the Polish line to the frontiers of that new republic. Latest despatches from Warsaw have shown the Poles to be struggling against the Russian soviet armies a considerable distance east of Brest.

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, July 10.—Stocks were hesitant at the opening of today's session, but became distinctly reactionary before the end of the first hour. Price movements were more confusing later when rallies assumed the leadership, presumably on the very favorable crop prospects. Canadian Pacific, Lackawanna and various low priced issues, notably Southern Railway and San Francisco were especially strong. American Woolen was under constant pressure, and reversals of 1 to 5 points were made by leading oil stocks, Suez, Corn Products, Atlantic Gulf, and other specialties. Partial recoveries ensued in the final dealings. The closing was irregular. Sales approximately 250,000 shares.

SALEM PUBLISHER IN AUTO ACCIDENT

ROWLEY, July 10.—Robert Damon, publisher of the Salem Evening News, was probably fatally injured; John H. Tivnan, superintendent of the News plant, was seriously injured, and William P. Somers, mechanic of the Salem News, and Dr. Charles S. Dennis of Salem and Beverly, received minor injuries here yesterday afternoon when Mr. Damon's limousine, in which they were riding, struck J. N. Dummer's automobile and was capsized.

The accident occurred at Rowley Common near the Congregational church. Mr. Damon and his party were on their way from Salem to Mr. Damon's camp on Clear Water pond, Industry, Me., and were going along the main road at moderate speed.

Mr. Dummer, who is chairman of the Rowley board of selectmen, with one passenger in his car, came from Church street, a cross road. He says he thought he did not have time to pass in front of the limousine, and so he stopped his car, giving half road to the Salem machine.

Mr. Damon's auto struck the hub of a forward wheel of Mr. Dummer's machine and went quite a distance before it capsized.

Mr. Damon was thrown against the windshield and his head forced through the glass, which cut him badly about the neck. By order of Dr. Bailey of Ipswich, the injured publisher was removed from the Rowley hospital, where all four occupants of the car were first taken, to the Cable Memorial hospital in Ipswich, and several Salem doctors were summoned to his bedside.

It was found that Mr. Damon's skull was fractured and that there were lacerations about the head and bruises about the body.

Mr. Tivnan sustained two broken ribs, a broken arm and compound fracture of one leg. Dr. Dennis and Mr. Somers suffered from bruises and a general shaking up. The limousine was considerably damaged.

A broken hub-cap, bent mud-guard and broken headlight constituted practically all the damage to the Dummer car. Neither Mr. Dummer nor his companion was injured.

COAL OPERATOR TALKS
Declares Adequate Facilities for Shipments the Principal Remedy

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Adequate facilities for coal shipments is the principal remedy for abnormal speculative prices, J. O. Morrow, vice president of the National Coal association, today told the interstate commerce commission in making an appeal for a continuation of a 30-day priority order for open top cars at bituminous coal mines. Acute shortage of coal will prevail as long as there is an inadequate supply of cars at the mines, he asserted, adding that ample shipments at least $15,000,000 tons of coal will be required for the current year ending March 31, the witness stated, pointing out that much of this will be needed to make up a shortage of 15,000,000 tons that ordinarily would have been in reserve last April. Since that time, shipments from the mines have been 1,215,000 tons a week, below the requirements, making a total shortage of between 30,000,000 to 35,000,000 tons, he declared.

An average weekly production of 12,000,000 tons should be maintained until December 1, Mr. Morrow said, if the country is to have the aggregate production needed to make up the deficit and carry it through the winter. At present the weekly production is approximately 10,000,000 tons, he stated.

The witness denied that a great volume of export coal business has produced a shortage in this country. "The total export of bituminous coal to July 1, was only 8,600,000 tons," he said, "but in that time the total domestic shortage was approximately 35,000,000 tons."

An embargo on coal would be "a rank discrimination against the coal producer," Mr. Morrow testified, adding that it was not practical to prohibit overseas movement of coal, even if determined upon. Much coal, especially in the south, could not be utilized, except through export," he said.

CLAY COURT TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIPS

CHICAGO, July 10.—First round matches in a record field of 173 clay court tennis champions today, on the court of the South Side Tennis club, saw the entry lists included 173 names in the double competition, the 1920 tournament is considerably more inclusive than the 1919 event, for more than 50 teams are entered.

The tournament play for a few days will be restricted to contests in which the doubles class, not being scheduled for full activity until Tuesday.

Many of the stars drew first round byes, their competition, not having until the second round. This is the first time since 1914 that Howard Woodell and Vincent Richards.

There are 50 men in the band, including 13 soloists. Mr. Askin is known to a number of Lowell people, having brought a number of his theatrical productions to the city in the past.

SCOTLAND YARD CALLED INTO ELWELL MURDER

NEW YORK, July 10.—Scotland Yard was called upon today to aid in solving the mysterious murder here of Joseph Elwell, white expert, turfman and "Don Juan."

After having followed many female trails, apparently without success, the authorities have turned to another woman of Elwell's acquaintance.

Her name was not made public, but it was said she had met Elwell at Palm Beach and Miami, last winter. Two reports were current concerning her, one that she was a stage beauty, another that she had served as a nurse during the war, and had been decorated by a foreign government.

She is said to have told a friend that Elwell was sending her to England and intended to follow later. Her picture was found among the dead man's effects and the authorities have expressed a desire to question her concerning any knowledge she may have of a motive for the crime.

The district attorney's office today began examining the bank accounts of several women numbered among Elwell's friends.

JACK JOHNSON OFFERS TO SURRENDER

LOS ANGELES, July 10.—Jack Johnson, former heavyweight champion pugilist, now a fugitive from American justice, in a long distance telephone call yesterday from Tijuana, Lower California, offered to surrender himself to federal authorities if accorded certain privileges.

He said a special agent of the department of justice, who told of Johnson's offer, said he refused to make any bargain with Johnson.

He said Johnson offered to cross the international line and surrender to United States officers. He assured he would be taken immediately to Chicago where he was indicted under the Mann act. He further demanded, Hall said, that he was at no time to be handcuffed or treated as a prisoner.

He stated he would be treated exactly the same as any other prisoner for whom the American government had a warrant.

Later, after conferring with J. Robert O'Connor, United States district attorney, Hall said the department of justice was not concerned with Johnson and that his arrest was a matter for the United States marshal.

MAN KILLED BY AMMONIA FUMES

BOSTON, July 10.—Three hundred gallons of ammonia, released by two explosions late last evening in the freezing plant of the Neapolitan Ice Cream company, Lansdowne street, Cambridge, suffocated the night engineer of the factory, who is believed to have been instantly killed by the poison fumes, and overcame one of the first firemen to arrive at the plant, David Ryan of Engine 2, who got too close to the building.

The first explosion was at 10:30 and the second shortly after. The detonations were described as dull thuds, in which adjacent buildings were shaken to their foundations. A pipe in the ammonia section of the freezing plant is supposed to have burst, freeing the compressed vapor of 300 gallons of the pungent liquid which filled the circulating pipes.

When firemen arrived, the plant was locked and they were for some time unable to enter. The fumes had escaped from the building and were poisoning the air about the neighborhood, rendering the work of entering the structure exceedingly difficult.

The probable cause of the night engineer could be seen by the firemen stretched on the floor of his engine room, but they were unable to get to him. They immediately cut the electric wires feeding the pumps which sent the ammonia from the main tank to the circulating system.

Franklin K. Kronenberg, president of the Neapolitan Ice Cream company, who lives at Rindge ave., Cambridge, could give no possible cause for the explosions. Two pumps, operated by electricity, force the liquid ammonia into the circulation system, which has a capacity of 300 gallons.

NEW YORK, July 10.—Boy Scouts of the eastern district today organized to help in the search for James Robert Blake, New York broker, who on July 2 started in a skiff from Clason's Point to Fisher's Island, off the Connecticut shore, and has not been seen since.

ATTACKS PRES. WILSON

Lynn Mayor Says Coal Shortage Due to Administration's Neglect

LYNN, July 10.—Unable to obtain deliveries of Lynn's municipal coal supply which the city bought at the mines, Mayor Walter H. Creamer, yesterday sent a telegram of protest to President Wilson, complaining of the failure of the administration adequately to protect New England industries. The telegram follows:—

"Holding an unfilled contract for 7000 tons of coal at $1.25 at the mines, unfilled on the plea of car shortage, I am today offered, in writing, $600 at $9.50 at the mines, daily shipments of 5 to 7 cars guaranteed, the coal belonging to exporters. I cannot but think that this situation is possible only through gross disregard of American interests by the administration at Washington.

Failure on the part of the president to place an embargo on water-borne coal to foreign countries favors Lorraine to the detriment of Lynn, Italy at the expense of the United States. It imperils the industrial welfare of New England.

"If it is wicked for organized labor to conspire against the public safety as it did in the Boston police strike, and as it has done, I am bound to say, in other instances, it is infamous for organized capital invested in the mining of coal to be permitted to withdraw contracts on pleas of a car shortage that injures our industrial safety, when cars seem to be readily obtained if abnormal export prices are in sight."

RULING ON THOSE ENTITLED TO BONUS

BOSTON, July 10.—In response to a request by George F. Willard, deputy state treasurer, Attorney-General J. Weston Allen yesterday made the following rulings affecting the soldiers' bonus law:

"An applicant is not entitled to the bonus who enlisted subsequent to February 3, 1917, passed all his physical examinations and received a discharge from the army, and not from the draft, prior to January 15, 1918, for physical disability incurred in line of duty.

"An applicant is not entitled to the bonus who was drafted, served 30 days and then given a discharge from the draft by reason of dependent relatives and not on account of physical or mental disability.

"An applicant is not entitled to the bonus who was called into active service in the naval forces, after a preliminary physical examination, went to another place for final examination and there rejected, the period between the date of his first examination and his rejection being 30 days.

"An applicant is not entitled to the bonus who was discharged from the service for bad conduct."

NEW YORK, July 10.—More than 20,000 employees of the Pennsylvania railroad were awarded medals by the company today in recognition of their war services. Awards were made to 510 nearest of kin of men who gave their lives in the war.

NEW YORK, July 10.—Unfilled orders of the United States Steel corporation for the month ending June 30 were 10,378,517 tons, it was announced today. This is an increase of 3,351 tons from the previous month, when the figures were 10,347,168.

The previous month's total is the greatest since July 1917, when unfilled orders aggregated 16,511,164.

THOUGHT SHE HAD HEART DISEASE

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Made Complete Cure of Stomach Trouble

MRS. FRANK W. WALLACE
Moultonville, Carroll Co., N. H.

"An account I read about 'Fruit-a-tives' or Fruit Liver Tablets in one of our newspapers prompted me to try this remedy.

I was all run down and work was burdensome owing to indigestion and fullness, due to gas on my stomach which caused me to belch a good deal. My heart seemed to be affected.

It was two years ago that I was in this condition and began the use of 'Fruit-a-tives'. Even though the trouble had been of a few years standing, the use of 'Fruit-a-tives' proved the very remedy I required. I was freed of the indigestion, which I attributed to my heart; and I can conscientiously recommend 'Fruit-a-tives' as a remedy of merit."

REPUBLICANS DROP FIGHT ON BABLER

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 10.—The fight for the removal of Jacob I. Babler as republican national committeeman from Missouri, was dropped yesterday. This was announced at a meeting of a committee of republicans appointed at a recent mass meeting at Sedalia to demand Babler's resignation.

Antagonism against Babler resulted from the disclosure that he had participated in the distribution of $25,000 of Lowden presidential campaign funds in the state.

SEEK SITE FOR VOCATIONAL SCHOOL

Several members of the local school committee are in search of a location for the city's Vocational school which at present is housed in the old Mann school building in Broadway. That structure has been in a more or less unsatisfactory condition for several years and the proposition to slush more money into it to build an addition has been frowned on by members of the municipal council.

Julian R. Keyes and Gardner W. Pearson, members of the school board, have inspected the former Lowell jail in Thorndike street and the Walter Coburn building off Gorham street as possible sites for school but both places have disadvantages for such use.

Chairman Thomas B. Belaney of the school committee says that unless the municipal council takes some step in the matter, the state may step in, close its own building and then compel the city to pay half the expense of maintaining it.

OUR FUTURE OIL SUPPLY

Standard Oil President Discusses World Oil Problems for The Sun

BY H. P. BURTON,
N.E.A. Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, July 10.—Three famous Englishmen have recently said these things about oil:

Admiral Fisher—"The oil engine will revolutionize commerce and alter the whole art of sea war."

Paul Curzon, British foreign secretary—"The allies floated to victory on a sea of oil."

Walter Hume Long, first lord of British admiralty—"If we secure the supply of oil now available in the world, we can do what we like. If others take it, with it goes the key of future national success."

By these words it is shown that coal, iron, copper and rubber—the old staples of diplomacy, the things for which nations fought—have been superseded, and that oil is the new prize in international poker. The economic sphere, in other words, has found that oil is the world's new driving power, needed alike for ships, trucks, trains, power plants and manufacturing, and so politics, which represent industry, must maneuver for this most powerful of national assets.

FOURTH OF JULY

Lowell Celebration of Independence Day Cost $1500

Lowell's Fourth of July celebration cost approximately $1500, according to Mayor Perry D. Thompson who was delegated by the municipal council to have general charge of the municipality's part in the observance. There are several bills still outstanding, but at a special meeting this morning the council voted to approve the payment of the majority of the bills contracted for the occasion.

The council also voted to approve the transfer of whatever balance is left from the Fourth of July appropriation to the general expense appropriation. Other monthly bills were approved at a session which lasted only 10 minutes. No other business was transacted.

NO GREAT RUSH OF VACATION TRAVEL

The hot weather did not produce any unusual rush of vacation travel out of Lowell today. Things went along about as usual on a summer Saturday at the railroad station. The ticket sellers were kept reasonably busy, but not abnormally so, passing out bits of cardboard in exchange for cold cash, and the baggage handlers went about their work without the hurry and bustle that sometimes characterizes a day when it seems as though almost everybody and his sisters, his cousins and his aunts had selected the same time for a start for the seashore or the mountains.

The three night expresses from New York to Maine that pass through Lowell in the early morning hours were filled to capacity today, but none of the trains was run in more than one section. In fact travel by this route is expected to continue along a fairly even level until the days following Labor day, when the usual rush from the north of parents who have children that they wish to get back to school will undoubtedly set in.

The Boston & Maine railroad began today to provide extra accommodations for the traffic that is expected will sweep over its lines to vacation resorts from now until September.

Beginning today train No. 3, leaving Boston at 11:30 a. m., and Lowell at 12:15 p. m., will be run in two sections every Saturday until further notice. The first section will run through to White Mountain points. The second section will leave the main line at Concord and continue its journey to stations on the Claremont branch, including Lake Sunapee and Newport, N. H.

Commencing tomorrow and continuing for the rest of the summer, Lowell people who run down to Boston for a day will find extra facilities provided for their return home late in the day. Train No. 325 that leaves Boston at 7 p. m. will be run in two sections. The first section will be an express train especially for the accommodation of Lowell people. It will make no stops between Boston and this city, and it will end its run here. The second section of this train will run to Montreal via White River Junction and the Central Vermont railroad.

Train No. 325 will be run in two sections every Sunday until further notice. It is scheduled to leave Lowell for Boston at 8:30 p. m. The first section will be made up in Lowell and will run via the Woburn loop, stopping at Silver Lake, Woburn and Winchester, and arriving at its destination at 5:45 p. m. The second section of the train will come from Concord, N. H., leaving that city at 7:15 p. m.

MORTALITY RATE

SHOWS DECREASE

Lowell's mortality rate this week showed a slight decrease in comparison with that of the week before, although it was exactly the same as that of two weeks ago. Twenty-six deaths were reported, while there were 28 last week. The rates were 12.52 and 13.18, respectively. There were six deaths of children less than five years of age and five of these were of children less than a year old. Infectious diseases caused three deaths, pneumonia one and tuberculosis three.

Infectious diseases reported included 26 cases of measles, three of tuberculosis and one of typhoid fever.

In the early 1910s girls were employed as pages in both houses of the Kansas legislature.

SEVERE NEURALGIC PAINS DISAPPEAR

Many people, both men and women, are handicapped by neuralgic headaches which come on suddenly and last for hours. This form of headache is often a symptom of anemia or thin blood. It marks one of the stages in the progress of a disease which is frequently well advanced before it is discovered, because its victims are apt to disregard the preliminary warnings.

Other symptoms of anemia are loss of appetite, indigestion, sleeplessness, shortness of breath after slight effort and extreme nervousness. If unchecked, anemia causes weakness and loss of weight, vigor and ambition.

If you have any or all of these symptoms, begin treatment now with a non-alcoholic tonic which will make the blood rich and plentiful, thereby giving it the food that is needed by starved nerves. Every part of the body will respond to the treatment, as was evident in the case of Mrs. Mary Scanlan, who lives at No. 165 Brooks Street, East Boston, Mass.

"My trouble began shortly after the birth of my daughter," relates Mrs. Scanlan. "I was weak and just had to compel myself to keep going. I suffered from severe neuralgic headaches which seemed like hot, darting flashes across my head. My appetite was poor and when I forced myself to eat I suffered from indigestion. It seemed as though there was a weight on my stomach."

"I read about a case similar to mine being benefited by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills so I got a box. Within two weeks I was convinced that the pills were helping me. My appetite improved almost at once. Slowly I gained strength. My complexion improved and the headaches became less frequent and severe and finally disappeared entirely. I cannot say enough for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for I know they are a good tonic."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or direct from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., at 50 cents per box, postpaid. Write today for a copy of the free booklet, "Building Up the Blood."—Adv.

GOV. COX TO CAMPAIGN ON LEAGUE ISSUE

DAYTON, Ohio, July 10.—Gov. Cox, democratic candidate for president, will open his campaign in California, probably in San Francisco, soon after he is formally notified of his nomination.

Then, waging the same slashing, fighting sort of battles that three times have won him the governorship of Ohio, he will carry the campaign into every state of the Union, not missing a single city of any size.

The first few weeks will be devoted entirely to the west, with the governor eventually working eastward and finally invading New England, where he plans to speak in Boston and possibly one or two other cities.

The dominant note of his campaign will be the League of Nations. "Fighting Jim" Cox is going to go direct to the people, and he is going to go to them with the League of Nations issue.

Gov. Cox will insist on a ratification not trespassing in any way on the principles of the pact, in any way emasculatory. He will contend that ratification was prevented by less than one-third of the senate, asserting that Senator Lodge was in a conciliatory mood when Senators Borah and Johnson threatened to bolt and that Lodge took the course he did thinking more of the welfare of the republican party than of the civilization of the world.

The governor will declare that the United States may sign the treaty with the distinct understanding that the nations are entering into concerted movement to preserve the peace of the world for no other purposes, that any other purpose arising, the United States could withdraw.

Secondly, he will declare that the United States, in participating in the league, shall go no further than the limitations of the constitution, calling attention to the fact that the right to declare war rests wholly with congress.

TWO JOBS OPEN

AT THE Y. M. C. A.

Two good jobs are open for men with proper qualifications at the Lowell Y.M.C.A. For several weeks Secretary H. P. Howe has been conducting a still hunt in an endeavor to locate a properly qualified assistant general secretary and assistant boys' secretary. According to Mr. Howe, men fitted for the positions are hard to find. To be successful in either of the places a man must have had some experience in Y.M.C.A. work. Mr. Howe believes, he says that he would like to get Lowell men for the places, but that there are not any available who have had proper training. It is also possible that there may be a third vacancy in the staff of the local organization. Mr. Howe has been conducting negotiations for engaging a new dormitory secretary. He believes that he has the right man picked for the place, but he has not been definitely engaged yet.

The association made a new membership record in June, the number of names on its rolls now being the largest in the history of the organization. The fees from new memberships exceeded what has been counted on in making up the association's budget for the year.

The South common wading pool has been thoroughly scraped and its debris removed this week by employees of the park department and fresh water has been let into the pool, thus presenting a more inviting appearance for the youngsters who are in the habit of wading there during the summer months.

A machine has been invented by a Scotchman that prepares hay for manure within a few hours after it has been pulled from the ground.

OPPOSES SENDING JEWS TO PALESTINE

LONDON, July 10.—Proposals that half a million Jews be taken to Palestine within the next year, made by Dr. Max Nordau at today's session of the international Zionist conference, were sharply attacked by Dr. Charles M. Weismann, who declared he favored a more moderate program.

"Such an undertaking," Dr. Weismann declared, "is impossible. The difficulty is not with the British government nor the San Remo conference nor the Zionist organization but with the Jews, who have failed to rise to the situation produced by decisions reached at San Remo. When Jews are prepared to sacrifice their flesh, blood and treasure to the maximum degree, then they may undertake to settle half a million of their race in Palestine within a year. The question is not what the Zionist leaders or the British have done, but what Jews have done."

The conference adjourned until Monday.

MOTORCYCLE COPS

DON NEW UNIFORMS

Lowell's motorcycle officers have donned their new khaki uniforms in accordance with permission recently granted them by Mayor Thompson. The only vestige of their former blue uniform which the motorcycle men retain is the regulation police hat. It was impossible to keep the old blue uniforms in a neat condition owing to the nature of the work in which the men were engaged; hence, the mayor's readiness to allow them to wear more appropriate clothing.

BIG ULSTER CELEBRATION

20,000 Expected to March in Orangemen's Parade in Belfast Monday

BELFAST, July 10.—Confidence that order will not be disturbed on Monday, notwithstanding elaborate preparations for the celebration of the anniversary of the battle of the Boyne, is expressed by officials here, despite the sensitive condition of public feeling.

Demonstrations have been forbidden in the city itself, but arrangements have been made for a great mass meeting at a park four miles distant, to which all processions will lead. It is expected that 20,000 persons will march in the Orangemen's parade, and that delegates from Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and the United States will attend.

Sir Edward Carson, the Unionist leader of Ulster, will be the chief speaker, and will propose a resolution appealing to the government to "deal resolutely with the cruel and treacherous warfare being carried on in Ireland," and pledging Ulster men to "over do their duty as loyal British citizens if called upon."

Among the other resolutions will be one expressing the determination of Orangemen to "defend the civil and religious liberties for which their ancestors fought at the Boyne river." Several detachments of soldiers in full equipment were detained at suburban stations yesterday and marched into the city. The city council at a meeting yesterday, defeated a proposal to close saloons on Monday, the vote being 28 to 27. Public meetings on Monday have been forbidden in Londonderry.

OLYMPIC SWIMMING TRYOUTS
CHICAGO, July 10.—National Olympic tryouts in the swimming events drew many of the best known swimmers in the country here today. Because of the large entry list, opportunities to qualify will be given both today and Sunday, it was announced.

The Pacific coast clubs and Honolulu are strongly represented in each event and several men have entered from the army and navy.

CALIFORNIA SAILS
NEW YORK, July 10.—George Carpentier, the French pugilist, was one of 5000 passengers on four liners sailing from here today for European ports. Carpentier sailed on la Lorraine. The other liners sailing were Kronprinz, Philadelphia and Dante Alighieri.

COMING WEEK WILL BE VERY BUSY ONE FOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

A busy week is in store for the chamber of commerce next week judging from the number of meetings on the calendar. The directors will hold their regular

THE COAL SITUATION

Hon. John N. Cole, state commissioner of public works, is using his influence at Washington to secure more coal for New England. If there is anything in a name, he should have some success.

From what was brought out at the hearing before the Interstate Commerce commission before which Mr. Cole appeared, it was plain that this very powerful commission is trifling with the vital interests of the people of New England and other parts of the country in refusing to stop exports of coal.

If the commission fails, the president should interfere in order to avert a calamity in the closing down of great industries for lack of fuel.

It was testified that the exports of coal have tripled in the last three years and the coal operators evidently do not care what loss or inconvenience the people of New England or elsewhere suffer so long as they themselves have an opportunity to sell their coal at a high price to foreign purchasers.

The Interstate Commerce commission is thus complicating the situation not only by allowing the coal to be shipped out of the country, but by failure to force better transportation facilities.

The latter condition would be improved by an early announcement of the increase in freight rates, for which the roads have been waiting.

The coal operators recently put up a big fight before the anthracite mine commission against publicity of their accounts, showing the volume of business, the revenue and profit of the various companies. There is little doubt that these companies have been engaged in profiteering on coal and they should be brought to trial and punished.

It is just as well to realize now, that if there should come any industrial depression due to a lack of coal, the administration will be blamed and the democratic party will be held responsible by the people. That is why the White House should take a hand in straightening out this coal shortage. It is on record that New England firms have bought coal west of Pittsburgh in hopes that they could get it shipped more readily from that point than by the regular New England routes. We are free to face with a crisis in which New England has to beg for a coal supply while during the first five months of this year, the exports of coal amounted to 5,726,000 tons.

This is on a par with the export of food which raised the prices in the home market, and the increase was attributed to profiteers. If the supply is sent out of the country it is not the fault of the local dealers if the price goes up. The exporters are the profiteers. Whose business is it to stop this robbery of the American people? This is a question that will have to be answered quickly and in the interest of the people if the most serious consequences are to be averted.

THE PERPETUAL CARE FUND

Whatever may be the legal aspects—and it would seem possible that there may be points of law involved—of the proposal to take a large sum from the hands of the commission charged with supervision of the city's public cemeteries and place it at the disposal of the sinking fund commission to meet a shortage of $75,000 which it is announced, may reach $150,000 within the year, there would seem to be some very practical reasons why the proposed transfer should not be made.

The people of the city have in mind what happened in the case of the Nesmith fund. This fund was left to the city on the condition that the city should pay 85 per cent interest in perpetuity to trustees who should expend the income for charitable purposes. In consequence the city appropriated the principal of the fund for other uses, illegally of course, and upon that illegal act is based another equally illegal in stopping the payment of interest.

Of course nothing of the kind may happen to the money that has been left in the hands of the cemetery commissioners for securing the perpetual care of lots in which loved ones of contributors are buried. The effect of the transfer of the fund, however, cannot be otherwise than to put into the minds of people the suspicion that funds left in trust with the city are liable to be misused or diverted to other purposes.

The predicament in which the city finds itself, seems such as can be remedied in a very simple way. Through no fault of anyone, its funds with which to meet its indebtedness have shrunk. To meet this shrinkage, why not borrow in the ordinary way. What seems to be proposed, is that the perpetual care fund shall be resorted to as a source from which to borrow. It is difficult to understand what is to be accomplished by following this course unless it is proposed to take over the cemetery money without interest, or at a lower rate of interest than is currently demanded by banks. Either course would seem to be plainly unfair to the people who have an interest in the cemetery fund and who have a right to demand that it shall be used with any possible accretions, to the last penny, for the purpose of keeping burial lots and their surroundings as attractive as possible.

THIRD PARTY HOPE

The republican party once fell foul of a third party and went down in defeat to be left out in the cold, barred from the political crib at which it had fed for many years; but now the leaders have some hope that a third party will come to the front to inflict upon the democratic party a blow as fatal as that which the republicans suffered in 1912.

There is to be a third party of some nondescript character, just as there has always been, but it is not likely to affect the democratic chances of success to any great extent. Indeed it is likely to draw as much from the republican party, despite all hopes to the contrary among the republican leaders who are sorely disappointed over the success of the democratic convention and the manner in which the discordant elements were there welded into perfect harmony.

Governor Cox is expected to be a strong candidate, and one whose political record will commend him to all classes as being a man who will enforce the law, whatever it may be. If the Volstead act is on the statute books, he will enforce it, and if the people want it slightly modified, that issue will rest with congress.

Governor Cox is accused by Mr. Bryan and the Anti-saloon league as being in sympathy with the "wets." There is no ground for any assumption that as president he would allow any laxity in the enforcement of this or any other law. Those who make these charges fail to state that Governor Cox suffered his worst defeat in Ohio at the hands of the liquor dealers.

As for Roosevelt, he, too, is a strong man. He would make a splendid candidate for president although he has not had the experience in executive offices in which Governor Cox has been such a conspicuous success.

From the support of two such men standing upon a strong platform, the third party can cause no defeat. If the republicans rely upon a third party to help them to victory, they will be woefully disappointed. The democratic ticket like the democratic platform is stronger than the republican and it has excellent prospects of success.

SHREWD JOHN BULL

While the nations of Europe are in a state of disorganization approaching anarchy or chaos, the shrewd John Bull, according to recent cable dispatches, are doing about nothing to secure business agreements by barter or other means that will place these nations under an obligation to trade with Britain in the future. England is seeking commercial conquest of Europe and she can attain her object in this respect more easily now than in the various nations with which she deals, had fully recovered from the effects of the war. A recent dispatch says:

While Americans are wondering about the fate of Europe on every side, the British government has got behind the scenes and is working to restore the British empire to its former position. They are a firm, when they want to.

soviet Russia. This British policy, of course, is what is to be expected, but we simply call attention to this situation to show that while our chief rival in world trade is establishing herself quite strongly in commercial relationship with nearly all the countries of Europe, we are wasting time in empty talk and have been doing that now for over a year and a half.

John Bull is again giving the world another demonstration of his financial and commercial shrewdness.

AS AN "UNDERMAN"

Governor Cox says: "If I should become president of the nation, I feel that I possess one equipment that I would not give for any other—that I lived through the life of the underman."

It is evident from these words that the democratic nominee has a genius for putting ideas bluntly into clear cut, understandable form. He has been, what he calls, an "underman" and he isn't ashamed of it, but, although he has climbed to a position of high standing and power, he still retains a remembrance of the days when he was one of the world's humbler toilers, and he retains in some measure their point of view of the problems of life and of society.

If he takes his place in the White House, as now seems probable, he will carry with him intelligent sympathies for the larger portion of his fellow countrymen that may bring him the enmity of big business which would direct the functions of government to their own private uses.

There is special need of such a man at the helm of the ship of state at this time—a man who can sympathize with the aspirations of the many as would be impossible for a president who had not himself lived through the common experiences of the so-called "underman."

THE BEST POLICY

Mill operatives who may be given a choice between a prolonged shut down and a curtailment to three days a week or something of that kind should accept the latter as preferable. A complete shut down for a month or two is a very serious matter under present living conditions.

Now that the democratic party has made an appeal for the ratification of the suffrage amendment, the republican leaders are out in a strenuous drive to get the credit of furnishing the 36th state to complete the ratification. Vermont is relied upon to take early action to help the republican cause and one democratic state will probably ratify the amendment early in August, if present plans do not miscarry.

The republicans are now trying to unearth a scandal on the democratic side as bad or nearly so as the rottenness shown in connection with General Wood's campaign. They are already trying to show that in certain parts of the south all the negroes who dare to vote the republican ticket are moved away and never seen again.

The boulevard is no place for a dance hall. No license should be issued for any such purpose on the boulevard. Some of the dance halls in the business districts are bad enough but on the boulevard, it would be difficult to prevent the worst forms of indecency.

Judging by the results of population recounts in other places, Lowell people can settle down with reasonable confidence that the number of inhabitants ascribed to the city by census enumerators is fairly correct.

A committee of alienists would seem to be desirable to pass on the qualifications of delegates to the convention of third party cranks, quacks, and political lunatics now in session at Chicago.

The Princeton tiger seems to have made pretty thorough work of assimilating the English hall dog in winning the international track meet at the Queen's club in London.

SEEN AND HEARD

"Men are polished, through act and speech. Each by each. An pebble, as smoothed on the rolling beach."

"One-piece bathing suits have been passed by censorship. And now the opticians' business will be overworked."

I see, said Hoot Mon, that search warrants are being used to hunt for liquor. Why not call in a few rum-hounds to trail it down.

Evidently the omnibus carrying up prices hasn't a reverse gear. Called for a bottle of milk in a help-yourself restaurant yesterday and got a little bottle that didn't hold quite as much as the ordinary drinking glass. The price was 10 cents and up till a few weeks ago that same restaurant sold a pint of milk for ten cents. Milk retails at something like 16 or 17 cents a quart and to charge ten cents a glass is getting dangerously close to the profiteering line.

Comets and Bills

"What's this, my dear?" asked Prof. Diggs, absent-mindedly.

"Why, it's the grocery bill," said Mrs. Diggs. "Our groceryman says it's overdue."

"So is that comet I've been expecting to put in an appearance for the last ten days. I'm not to blame, I hope," said the professor, and calmly resumed his studies.

Nature Always Right

Nature, we are informed, does things right, with never a mistake, doing what should be done, and leaving undone the things which ought not to be done. Nature is perfect; it is the last word in efficiency, excellence, accomplishment. Is that so? It is nature, isn't it, that piles ice high at the North Pole where it is cold enough already, and arranges it so you have none in your refrigerator where it is most needed? It is nature, isn't it, that makes the guy who wants to be fat, lean, and vice versa, or even worse than that? We'll tell Uncle Sam so.

Prohibition Effects

The wives of two Muncie factory workmen were discussing the effect of prohibition on their husbands.

"When John comes home on Saturday noons nowadays with his pay envelope and turns it over to me," said one, "I always deals him out 50 cents for spendin' money and he spends it for himself."

"And what did he do in the old saloon days?" asked the other.

"In them terrible days," said the first, "when John turned over to me his pay envelope on Saturday noons, I used to give him 50 cents for a little spendin' money for himself, and soon he'd be back with a growler of beer for the two of us, bless his heart!"—Indianapolis News.

Very Polite of Him

The atmosphere of the smoking car lent itself to reminiscence.

"Captain," asked the hardware salesman, "would you mind telling me how you lost your arm?"

"Not at all, not at all," replied the bronzed officer with the empty sleeve. "It happened this way: We were due for another turn in the trenches the next day, so they were giving a dance for us that night back in the rest camp. A few welfare workers were there, and among them was the cutest little girl I ever met. I managed to dance with her most of the evening, and toward the end we wandered out in the moonlight."

"Captain," she said, after a while, "please remove your arm."

"And you know, she was such a little queen, I just couldn't refuse her."

Give Service

If you stop to find out what your wages will be, how they will clothe and feed you.

Willie, my son, don't you go to sea, for the sea will never need you.

If you ask for the reason of every command, and argue with people about you. Willie, my son, don't you go on the land, for the land will do better without you.

If you stop to consider the work you do, and to boast what your labor is worth, dear, Angels may come for you, Willie, my son, But you'll never be wanted on Earth, dear.

LOWELL MAN BACK FROM CONVENTION

David A. Hartnett of this city has returned from Mooseheart, Ill., where he took part in the convention held by the Loyal Order of the Moose. Mrs. Hartnett accompanied her husband on the trip west and both had an enjoyable trip. Mr. Hartnett speaks interestingly of the west and especially of Mooseheart.

"The community of Mooseheart," he says, "is unique. When members of the order die, leaving dependent children, the Moose lodge steps in and gives the children a home and education. The Moose are prepared to give them high school educations and each child may select a trade out of the 21 vocational courses taught."

"An interesting reflection of the ideas of the Moose," continued Mr. Hartnett, "is their buildings which are thoroughly fireproof, sanitary and safe for children. All permanent buildings are made of concrete block and the rooms are bright, sunny and scrupulously clean. The concrete blocks are made at Mooseheart by students, and a great deal of the actual construction work is done by Mooseheart students under expert direction. They build their own home and at the same time they learn a trade."

"During the convention the $125,000 Philadelphia Memorial hospital given by the Philadelphia lodge and built with the famous Mooseheart concrete block, was dedicated. Funds were raised for five additional buildings. There were many interesting addresses, among which was one by Ambassador Chapin."

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Before going off on your automobile trip tomorrow for a day's pleasure it might be well for you to consider how you will return, whether in your own auto, safe and sound, or in an ambulance or an undertaker's wagon. Reckless drivers should carry in their pockets in an envelope, a written statement something like this: My name is _____, residence _____, if I am killed or sent unconscious to a hospital away from home notify _____, Charge all expenses to _____.

This may be regarded as a cold blooded proposition, but it is a precaution that has proved very necessary in hundreds of cases, in which speed maniacs and other foolish people put in charge of high powered machines on the public highways, have dashed to death, in many instances killing others as well as themselves.

Young men who want to improve their education should get ready to take up college extension courses in the fall. There will be courses offered in English composition, accounting, mathematics, business English, history, conversational French, public speaking, gasoline automobiles and various others. Registration will be conducted through the office of the superintendent of schools.

The attention of Commissioner Salmon is respectfully called to the fence around Fels park in Riverside street, which protrudes out on the sidewalk at a point near the residence of Patrick O'Hearn. It may be that boys have knocked the fence askew, but in any event, it is showing signs of dilapidation and a little repairing will straighten out the line before it falls on somebody and the city is called upon to pay damages. Fels park is a pretty little spot, named after and laid out in memory of the late August Fels and hence the desire of Pawtucketville folks to have it kept neat and presentable. I understand it is up to the water department to take care of it.

In this column a short time ago were given some rules of a famous swimming coach for the guidance of people who happen to get into the water in the summer time who cannot swim. There was one rule, perhaps the most important of all, that happened to be omitted. It is: Don't lose your head. The human body under normal conditions is more buoyant than water. In other words, like the widely advertised brand of soap, it floats. If a person who is unable to swim tumbles overboard, or badly, tently gets beyond his depth while in bathing, if he will keep perfectly quiet, throwing the head back a trifle to secure balance, without making the slightest motion, he will float almost indefinitely. Salt water is of course much more buoyant than fresh water, and it is possible to lie outstretched upon the surface of the ocean with as much comfort as on the downiest of couches. The same is only a little less true of fresh water. Fear is what causes most people who get into water beyond their depth to drown. If this fear, which has no real cause, could be banished, and people in positions that they believe dangerous could view their predicaments as calmly as though they were standing on shore and reason about what it would be best to do there would not be many deaths by drowning for the newspapers to record. Getting overboard with a complete outfit of clothes on is of course another proposition. But even in such cases the clothes imprison considerable air for a while and serve as life preservers.

EXPERT TALKS ON PLAYGROUND WORK

Miss Louise French, an expert in recreational activities, associated with the National Community service and at present in Lowell to assist in the work of the girls' club of the Lowell Community service, addressed the playground teachers and supervisors of the park department in the aldermanic chamber at city hall late yesterday afternoon.

The Community service and park department are co-operating in making the playgrounds as attractive as possible to children in all sections of the city. Miss French emphasized the need of organized work on the various playgrounds so that each ground will be working along the same general lines as the others. She also spoke of baseball and volley ball leagues and various other details that enter into the playground teachers' work. She suggested that each day's work on the playgrounds be opened with patriotic exercises as a part of the general Americanization program now being carried on.

Following their talk Miss French answered questions from the teachers and later a committee consisting of the head supervisors on each playground was appointed to make arrangements for the closing exercises of the season in September.

Mayor Perry D. Thompson also addressed the supervisors and assured them of his co-operation and assistance at all times in the excellent and valuable work which they were carrying on.

The speakers were introduced by Clarence M. Weed, chairman of the park commission. The supervisors will meet next Friday afternoon at city hall at 4.30.

HOLY NAME SOCIETY

The Holy Name society of St. Michael's parish will receive communion in a body at the 5 o'clock mass tomorrow morning. Inasmuch as the ranks of the society were largely augmented after the recent mission, it is expected that there will be a record-breaking attendance at tomorrow's service.

Besides the birds, there are numerous insects which attack the fruit, wood and leaves of the olive tree.

HARDING TO COX

(Telegrams)

Gov. James M. Cox—I recall a much-remarked cartoon which portrayed you and me as newsboys contending for the White House delivery. It seems to have been prophetic. As an Ohioan and a fellow publisher, I congratulate you on your notable victory.

SAYS IT'S UP TO THE LORD TO GIVE HIM JOB

BROCKTON, July 10.—Rev. Harper B. Mitchell of the North Baptist church, who resigned several weeks ago and since then has been asked by a large number of parishioners to reconsider his decision, made it very emphatic yesterday that he would go through with his resignation, and at the same time indicated plainly that there has been trouble within the parish.

"According to Scripture," he said, "I should do one of two things, clean out the 'mixed multitude,' which I believe cannot be done in this church or else separate myself from the mixed multitude. This I am doing. Those who want worldly amusements, pleasures, sports, sales and the like should go to a church that has such things. Those who want the teachings I have been giving should join the Olivet Memorial church."

"I am going to withdraw from the apostate Baptist denomination. I am working for the Lord Jesus Christ and it is up to Him to give me a job, I am not worrying but what He will."

NEWS OF THE DAY IN POLICE COURT

Miss Margaret M. Dean, arrested yesterday afternoon by Policewoman Miss Emily Skilton for larceny on July 5 from Miss Gladys Ingram of the local Y.W.C.A. of waists and other articles was arraigned in police court this morning and held for disposition until July 17.

The defendant had escaped from some asylum and was apprehended by the Lawrence police who put her in the care of an organization in that city. She got away from her wards, however, and came to this city. She had been engaged to a soldier. Her home is in Waterbury, Conn.

George Danus was fined $25 for operating an automobile without a license. George has two brothers and all three look very much alike. Surrounding himself to the arresting officer as George, he took advantage of the three names and contrived himself three times on the witness stand saying that he was James P. Danus.

When asked for his license he produced a card addressed to James P. and then, to make things complete he declared that he was James P. Danus. The court, because of the confusion and the fact with the admission that in the future he should know for a certainty who he was.

Walter Naumi, charged with non-support of his wife was ordered to pay $15 per week to the probation officer under suspended sentence of five months in the house of correction. Through counsel he appealed the decision and was ordered to furnish bonds of $200 for superior court.

BODY RECOVERED IN SILVER LAKE

The body of Paul Orlando, aged 26 years, a resident of Somerville, who drowned while bathing in Silver Lake, Wilmington, last Sunday, was found floating in the lake Thursday by Elmer P. Melzar. The remains were viewed by Medical Examiner R. B. Perley of Melrose and later taken to the home of the father of deceased, Philip Orlando, 229 Lowell avenue, Somerville. The young man with two companions went to Silver Lake last Saturday afternoon to spend the week-end and the trio occupied a cottage on Cypress street. Sunday noon he went in bathing and some time later his companions found his clothes on the shore. The lake was dragged in the early part of the week, but with no result. Deceased was employed by his father as a hairdresser.

LOCAL FANS FLOCK TO SPALDING PARK

Ideal baseball weather and widespread interest in the series served to attract a large crowd of fans to Spalding park this afternoon for the second of the five-game series between the Knights of Columbus and Pitts' South Ends. Determined to reverse the result of the first encounter last Monday when they were defeated, 3 to 1, the South End players began today's game strengthened by the addition of McMahon and White. Cawley and Scully were the most likely looking mound choices for the Knights while Manager Lyons of the South Ends had both McCarthy and Devlin warming up before the game.

COURTS

SINN FEIN SUPRECEDE CROWN

DUBLIN, July 10.—Evidence is piling up here which seemingly would indicate that the newly organized Sinn Fein courts rapidly are superseding in power the crown tribunals. A great number of cases on appeal are being withdrawn from the crown supreme court because it is stated that the litigants have little confidence in the power of that court.

For the same reason it is alleged unionists are appealing to the Sinn Fein lower courts. One unionist attorney is credited with saying that it was useless to take a case before the crown court and as his client desired quick action he took the case to a Sinn Fein tribunal.

In many parts of the provinces Sinn Fein have taken over control of liquor selling and have issued orders to saloons regarding the hours of closing. Sinn Fein pickets have been effective in stopping Sunday drinking by checking up bona fide travelers who are entitled under the law to drink. The policy of serving drinks on Sunday hitherto has been spasmodic. Now it has been made regular by a code issued to license holders by which they may be open only from 5 o'clock in the morning until 9 at night and which prohibits the selling of liquors on Sundays or church holidays.

LOWELL POST OF AMERICAN LEGION

At a meeting of the executive and nominating committees of the Lowell post of the American Legion last evening at which Post Commander Luther W. Faulkner presided, a list of names for the Lowell delegation to the Springfield convention in August was reported.

These names will be presented at the Monday night meeting. Congressman John Jacob Rogers will be the principal speaker at the next meeting. Chairman O'Grady of the committee in charge of the barbecue to be held in Thompson's grove, Wilmington, July 31, reported that already many posts from Middlesex, Essex and Suffolk counties have signified their intentions of taking part. This will be the first affair of the kind to be conducted by the legion.

JUMPED FROM TRAIN SAIL FOR ALASKA

Well Prisoner, on Way to Jail Escaped Through Car Window

Earl McCallum who was on his way to the Cambridge jail yesterday afternoon under the charge of local Officer Matthew McCann, escaped from the Boston train just outside of Winchester by jumping from one of the windows. Officer McCann had allowed the man to go to the end of the car where he made his escape unseen by anyone. It is suspected that he made his getaway through a window which the train was passing at the time. The police of Boston and surrounding towns have been notified of the act.

McCallum appeared in court yesterday charged with non-support of his wife and was ordered under $200 bonds for disposition on July 16. Being unable to furnish security he was ordered to the Cambridge jail for detention.

COMMUNITY CLUB GIRLS IN CAMP

Large numbers of Community club girls and their friends went to the club camp in Billerica this morning and they will be joined tomorrow by many others. The club activities are under the direction of Miss Cronin of the community service.

Y.W.C.A. Camp

During the past week a group of 25 high school girls have been enjoying camp life at the Y.W.C.A. camp near Tyngsboro. Miss Florence Foster was in charge of the camp and Miss Edward Wilson was in charge of the girls. Those who have spent some time at the camp since July 1st are Eunice Dodge, Dorothy Pratt, Joanella Johnston, Jessie McDonald, Dorothy Fleming, Ethel Vance, Nelda Cross, Mary MacCauley, Mabel Whitbeck, Helen Manion, Althea Gocho, Marguerite Woodbury, Florrie Alderson, Frances Ward, Mildred Gardner, and Melchiora Roselli. Others who have been guests for part time are: Ida Boughton, Winifred Goyette, Ida Wilson, Charlotte York, Mabel Knowles, Ethel Lombard, Marion Carlton, Mary Omer, Florence Hartwell and Florence Archibald.

Next week a group of grade-school girls who have been members of the girls' clubs in the association during the year, will have a vacation at the camp. Thirty-eight young women have already signed up which is the capacity of the camp. Miss Bertha Nelson will be in charge next week.

YOUNG MEN WANT TO JOIN ARMY

Reports from the army recruiting station are that too many boys from sixteen to eighteen years of age are making application to join the United States army. To remove these conditions the Boston recruiting office has sent the following requirements for the use of the local office:

Young men between the ages of sixteen and eighteen who are well developed and with at least a grammar school education will be considered for enlistment in the army. Young men between the ages of sixteen and eighteen who are high school graduates or who have a knowledge of a trade and are physically qualified will be encouraged, but in all cases the written consent of parents or the proper form must be obtained before enlistment.

Sergeant Perkins, now in charge of the local station, forwarded James E. Arthur of 87 South street, this city, to Boston this morning as a recruit for the coast artillery at Fort Banks.

PROMPT PAYMENT OF POLL TAX HERE

A large crowd besieged the city treasurer's office this noon to pay the 1920 poll tax bills and as has been the case for the past two weeks, the office was kept open until 4 p. m. to accommodate the visitors. City Treasurer Fred H. Bourke has asked that all poll tax bills be paid before July 15, next Thursday, so that returns may be made to the state as soon as possible.

that the movement was started at a recent meeting of the executive board of the international union and that every textile city is being asked to raise its share of the $1,000,000, this money to be later turned over to the international body, where it will remain until an emergency arises. He urged the members of the Lowell Textile council and all who are connected with textile unions to do their utmost in making Lowell's efforts successful, saying this city wanted to make as fine a showing as any other textile center in New England.

The meeting was presided over by President Walter G. Roche and after several of those present spoke favorably on the project a committee headed by Mr. Roche and consisting of the presidents of all locals affiliated with the U.T.W. was appointed. This committee will meet next Saturday evening in Labor hall and a week from Friday night will report its activities at the regular meeting of the council.

HELD ANNUAL FIELD DAY

Lamson Mutual Benefit Association at Canobie Lake

Ten special cars conveyed the members of the Lamson Company Mutual Benefit association and their families and friends to Canobie Lake park this morning where the annual field day was held. Fully 1500 people, some of whom went over the road in private automobiles, took part in the outing which was one of the most successful and well attended in many years. Five cars left Palace street at 8:15, five more at 8:30 and for the return trip special cars were scheduled to leave the park at 5:15, 5:45, 6:15, 7:15, 7:45 and 8:15 p. m.

An elaborate program included two baseball games, races for men and women, bowling matches and presentation of prizes to the winners. As soon as the first specialists arrived at the park the "Old Timers," Green's "Colts" and Clark's "Bronchos" crossed bats in a 3-inning baseball game with Merrill and DeCamp as umpires. Capt. Green's aggregation was comprised of House, Brown, Dyer, Ken-dick, Cunningham, Scott, Maddocks and Lamb.

The "Bronchos" were Boudreau, Davis, Salomon, Pearson, Thurber, Bowles, Marchand, Lamm and Capt. Clark. The prize for the winners was a box of cigars and a great deal of friendly rivalry was packed into those three innings.

At 11 o'clock Starter J. E. Cunningham, Jr., and Judges W. F. Merrill, A. W. DeCamp and J. S. Scott started the men's races. They included a 100 yard dash, a three-legged race, hop, stop and jump, sack race, "U" and "I" race, sack race for boys, old timers' race, fifty yard dash. Suitable prizes were given to winners in all the above events.

In the girls' sewing race, sack and race for small girls, needle and thread race and 50 yard dash two prizes, a $5 and $2.50 gold piece, were given in each event. In the girls' half mile and quarter mile races, suitable prizes were awarded. At noon the picnicers thoroughly enjoyed a basket lunch and were served hot coffee and tonic.

At 2 o'clock the main baseball game, between the Massachusetts state hospital and representatives of the Lamson company was called by Umpire Alger and Hildsworth. With Harndon and Shonick as pitchers the hospital was represented by Holt, Millet, Snyder, Corcoran, Sullivan, Lynch Kelly and Nash while the Lamson team was composed of Longtin, Treohy, Dion, Coult, Laporte, Hendricks, Curley, Rogers and Allen.

A special girls' bowling match was called at 1 o'clock between Knapp's "L. R. 88" and Rogers' "Y. D's." The prize for the winners being a box of D. L. Page's chocolates. Captain Rena Knapp's team was composed of Ellen Martin, Agnes Gallagher, Ruth Hunter, Della O'Rourke and Captain Louise Rogers' team was Esther Winslow, Irene Toohay, Doris Senior and Mary Heath.

At the same time a bowling match for men between Dyer's "Highbrows" and Harrison's "Bevons" was battled out with Clarence Wilkins as referee. The "Highbrows" were Capt. Dyer, Humphrey, Lafleur, Renand and Allen and the "Bevons" Capt. Harrison, Prescott, Mullen, Laporte and Curley. The prize was a box of cigars.

The committees were as follows: general committee, J. P. Goodyear, president; F. Hildsworth, treasurer; C. R. Griffin, secretary; C. B. House, Thomas Green, Sam Davis, Leon Brown, William H. Wood, Walter Wilham, J. A. Boudreau, advisors. The transportation, grounds and public relations committee included Nelson Hill, chairman; Harold Lamb and John S. Scott; refreshment committee, Alexander Mullen, chairman; William Maddocks and Joseph Boudreau; sports committee, J. E. Cunningham, Jr., chairman; Edward Thurber, Ralph Finch, Thomas Corley, Frank Hendricks, Joseph Normandy, Frederick Harrison, James Stewart, Joseph Rowe, John Peltolae, Harold Thomas, Richard Fredericks, William Kennel, George Toomey, William Talley, and Fred Cummings; girls' sports committee, Miss Louise Rogers, chairman; Miss Rena Knapp, and Miss Agnes Gallagher; ball game committee, Fred Allen, chairman; George Ronger and Wilfred Laporte.

At Milligan's Grove

Three special cars, bound for Milligan's grove, Wilmington, conveying pupils of the Gosham Street Primitive Methodist church Sunday school and friends, left the corner of Ellsworth and Gosham streets this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. It was the annual outing of the school and was in direct charge of Rev. N. W. Matthews, pastor of the church and Richard C. Campbell, assistant superintendent. At the grounds a long list of sports was enjoyed and a baseball game was played. Prizes were given to the winners. The committee was as follows: Tickets and transportation, R. C. Campbell, R. Doherty, C. Noll, P. Killebrew, sports, D. Doherty, J. Hildsworth, C. Johnson and A. Chavara. The return was scheduled for 7:30 p. m.

At Nabussett Pond

The Greek and Polish Girl Scouts of the International institute, accompanied by relatives and friends, enjoyed an outing at Nabussett pond this afternoon under the immediate direction of Miss Edna Merrill, director of the institute. Miss Merrill chartered a truck owned by the F. J. Smith Co. and ordered the start from Palmer street at 1 o'clock and the return from the pond at 6 o'clock. The main sport enjoyed was swimming. Refreshments were served. Others in charge were the troop leaders, Misses Varnum, Whitten and Hatch.

MASS NOTICE

There will be an anniversary mass Monday morning at 8 o'clock at St. Michael's church for the repose of the souls of Patrick and Bridget Kilbride.

Snakes are said to be so short-sighted that they are unable to see a distance of more than one-quarter of their own length.

SUN MAN SAYS U. S. WATCHES EUROPE THROUGH RHINE ARMY

Intelligence Department Is in Closer Touch With News Than Many Embassies—An Open Window for Uncle Sam

(By MILTON BROSSNER)
European Manager N. E. A.
- PARIS, July 10—If maintaining an American army on the Rhine served no other purpose, it would be useful because it gives Uncle Sam a window through which to look into Europe and get the exact dope on what is happening there.
Frankly, I mean that the intelligence department of our army, doubtless, gets a great deal more news that is interesting and valuable to our government at Washington than many of the embassies are able to obtain.

U. S. on Sidelines
Although we have not signed the peace treaty, have not joined the League of Nations and are still technically at war with Germany, we are probably the only nation that is not taking an active part in what is going on in unsettled and disturbed Central Europe.

As much cannot be said for England and France. Take Germany, for instance. There is reason to believe that some Englishmen were "in the know" in advance of the recent Dr. Kapp revolution, whose object was to overthrow the Ebert government and put some sort of strong reactionary or monarchial ring in control.

This was not because the Britons were particularly enamored of kings, but because they figured that Germany could best be governed by someone of the old crowd instead of the amateurs now in charge. They were animated by a fear of Bolshevism. When the Kapp gang was shown up in all its weakness, the Britons stood out from under.

French Play Part
On the other hand, there is reason to believe that the French have not remitted their efforts to cultivate a separatist sentiment in the Rhineland and southern portions of Germany. These sections have never particularly loved Prussia.

At the time of the great Napoleon they were part of the French empire. And as recently as 1856, when Prussia fought Austria, some of them fought on the side of the latter. The French dream is to have an independent Rhineland which would act as a buffer between Prussia and France.

In Poland once more, one finds that England and France are more than interested observers. They look upon Poland as a possible barrier against Bolshevism. That is the reason why the governments of England and France are giving Poland very material aid.

British Arms Get In British munitions and supplies have found their way to the bankrupt Polish state which otherwise might be hard put to it to maintain its fighting armies.

On the other hand, France is supplying much of the military brains of the Polish army. There are hundreds of French officers in Poland who have gone there on various military missions. It is they who have gone there on outwornest treadle organized the Polish army for victory against the Russian Reds.

TAXI MAN WITNESS IN ELWELL CASE

NEW YORK, July 10.—Philip Bender, taxi driver, is an important witness in the Elwell mystery investigation. He says there were only three persons in the party he drove away from the Amsterdam theatre the night before Elwell was slain—one woman and two men. There were two women at the dinner.

Octavio Figueroa, a friend of Elwell, who was at the dinner, says that all of the party of five, with the exception of Elwell, got into the cab.

THE GREAT AMERICAN HOME

Quarter Century Ago

The old Sun has a long account of a big convention held here by the Lamson Store Service company from which the following is taken:

"The first annual convention of the agents of the Lamson store service company was begun yesterday in this city and among those present are: W. O. Avery, Chicago; W. E. Clark, St. Louis; J. W. Thomas, San Francisco; S. R. Gayton, Philadelphia; E. R. Clarke, New York; F. C. Cutting, Rochester; D. M. Patterson, Baltimore; A. W. H. Glanville, Toronto; E. St. Amour, Montreal; O. P. Stone, Boston; L. H. Mahu, Boston; G. H. McMaster, Philadelphia.

They are quartered at the American house while the convention is being held at the works on Walker street. The purpose of the convention is to enable the agents to look over the factory where the store service is turned out, to inspect samples of many new devices which are to be introduced and to discuss business. Each of the agents has two topics upon which he will read papers and all papers will be discussed.

"The territory represented by these agents is great. Mr. Avery of Chicago having within his jurisdiction, Detroit, Minneapolis, Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Louisville, Nashville and Omaha, together with the dependent territory." This company is one that brings considerable credit to the city of Lowell. It was founded here some 35 years ago by William Lamson of Lowell. It has extended its business to Canada, South America, England and other countries in Europe. It has several small rivals, but their store service devices are inferior to the Lamson.

Y. P. S. C. E. World Convention

About this time 25 years ago the Christian Endeavor societies held a general convention in Boston. From the report carried by the Sun the following is taken:

"BOSTON, July 11.—The Christian Endeavorers have possessed Boston. From center to circumference, this city is now owned by kale-bedecked young people from the four corners of the earth. Their presence has affected the town more than anything else for more than a decade. They have obliged the prime old city to don a gorgeous garb of crimson and white. Indeed, Boston is doing unheard of things these days. The convention was formally opened today at Mechanics building.

Notable among the personages in attendance were President Francis E. Clark known as "Father Clark," the founder of the Y.P.S.C.E., Rev. Smith Baker, late pastor of the First Congregational church in Lowell, was also there. He was then stationed in East Boston.

Perhaps the most distinguished clergyman present was Rev. S. P. Smith, D.D., the author of "America." He had written a hymn of "Welcome" to the convention which was in part as follows:

"We welcome the hosts of our glorious King,
The King whom we worship, whose
His triumph we seek; His dear cause cannot fail.
Christ's servants, Christ's soldiers, for
His sake, all hail!

We march forth, unshrinking, to battle for Thee;
The armies of sin shall not tempt us to flee.
We bow to Thy will, and we honor Thy word.
And follow Thy banner, our Captain and Lord.

Ride on to new conquests, new glory attain.
How grand is Thy kingdom, how blessed Thy reign!
And we wait for no being is worthy, but Thee.
The crown of the earth on Thy Glorified
Brow!"

Silver Wedding

From the old Sun of July 11: "The marriage of Mr. Carl Davis Burtt and Miss Mary Angie Parker occurred last evening at the home of the bride's mother, 66 Third street. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. C. H. Parker and the groom, a popular teacher in the high school. The Episcopal wedding service was performed by Rev. George H. Johnson, the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march ushering in the service. The maid of honor was Miss Della Churchill and the bridesmaid Miss Lottie M. Corey of Bedford. Mr. Henry Hall Harris was best man."
Mr. Burtt was formerly for many years assistant master in the high school, but soon after the death of former Principal Irish he accepted the principalship of the high school in Arlington.

Mayor Courtney's Message

At a meeting of the common council held 25 years ago, soon after the famous deadlock was broken, a long message from Mayor Courtney was read asking for a special committee to investigate the finances of the city. He charged that the policy of borrowing had been too freely indulged and he favored a "pay-as-you-go" policy. The Sun had the following comment upon it:

"Mayor Courtney's message to the common council last evening and the subsequent action of the aldermen in appointing a committee to investigate the question of municipal finances occasioned much favorable comment. "Alderman Tryder in speaking of the matter said that he did not like the way the resources do business. He believed vacant land should be taxed the same as occupied land, thus bringing more money into the treasury that properly belongs to the city. It also tends to make matters of such vacant land more ready to offer this property for sale.

"As yet the council has expressed that the council should find more personal property to tax.
"It may be possible that the committee on taxation will find that certain departments are making unnecessary expenditures. It may be that they have more help than is necessary

VACATION TIME, WITH ITS 'WHERE SHALL I GO' IS HERE

BY GENE AHERN

"Where will I spend my vacation?" is the popular question under the public's Panama. In order to lighten the thinking of many of my customers, I have doped up a flock of vacation suggestions, and the one that hitches with your fancy and purse, mark off with a hasty X.

The way to pick out a vacation is to go at it systematically. Study out the features that would be totally different from your daily routine, such as exertion, comfort and appetite. First, there's the fishing trip. Fishing trips this vacation season aren't going to be very stylish on account of the bait being so scarce. Hooks will replace cotterpins. Can only pull up the tin bucket full of bottled beer-cough connoisseurs, cooling in the water, every time you get a bite—in a throat.

Next in order is a vacation on the farm. Back to the simple life. You're simple when you start, and while you're there spend all your time calling yourself a snip for not buying a round trip ticket good only for the day you arrived.

Nice Razz Party

Then we have the trip to another city. Leaving the dusty, hot, smoky, noisy home environment, offers you a wonderful opportunity to enjoy knowledge and razzing the features and legends of the land you are visiting.

Now, after going through this collection of vacation suggestions, if you don't find one that settles the question, and decide to spend the vacation at home, you're right, both in mind and pocketbook.

CHAIRMAN CASEY OF CHARTER COMMISSION TALKS OF WORK

Possibility of Women Voting in Fall Elections Considered—Need of a City Committee in Local Politics

If there are people who think that there is a lack of general interest in the work of the Lowell charter commission organized this week, they may as well dump the idea overboard at once as being erroneous. The subject is being discussed in many circles by men who view the problems involved from widely different viewpoints, and, unless there is let-up in interest between now and the time when the members of the commission get down to the business of listening to suggestions from citizens regarding what in their opinion a city charter ought to provide for, there will be a flood of ideas regarding more or less methods of governing the city let loose upon the community next fall.

It is the general opinion that the commission made a good start by electing Hon. James B. Casey as chairman. As a former mayor he has, of course, a wide knowledge of civic affairs that cannot fail to be useful in connection with the work of formulating a new charter or making changes in the old one. The commission also showed that it intends to go about its work in a systematic way by providing for the selection of a committee to lay out a plan of action to be followed when the members get down to business.

Casey Praises Commission
Seated on the roof porch of his home on Chelmsford street a few evenings ago, Chairman Casey chatted with The Sun man about the charter commission and its prospective work. As a preface to his remarks he expressed a reluctance to be interviewed on the subject of charter-making, saying that he thought it would be more courteous to his colleagues on the commission if he should make his views on matters pertaining to charter changes known to the members of the commission first rather than through the columns of a newspaper. That he had opinions regarding what changes were most urgently required he did not deny, but he insisted that he was of an open mind and ready to listen attentively, and with a full disposition to be convinced, to any suggestion that might come to the commission from any source.

Mr. Casey spoke in highest terms of the make-up of the commission and said that he believed that every one of the members is disposed to approach the problems that have been turned over to them for solution with open minds and with the sole desire to act in such a way as to best promote the public good.

Get at the Facts
While refraining from an expression of his own views as to what charter changes might probably be made, Mr. Casey was willing to talk about the methods of procedure that he believed the commission should follow in carrying on its work. He referred to the fact that the commission has the widest of powers as to the summoning of witnesses and the examination of books and documents pertaining to the conduct of the city government.

"I believe," said Mr. Casey, "that the commission should thoroughly acquaint itself with the conditions that now exist in connection with the affairs of the city government—that an effort should first be made to find out what, if anything, is wrong in the way in which we are now, and have been, doing things.

"Take the street department for instance. We all know that the streets of Lowell are not what we would wish. Who or what is responsible for this? Is there something wrong in the way in which our city government is designed or administered? Is the fault to be found in the way in which the business of the street department has been conducted by officials in the past or at the present time? Is the condition one that can be remedied or is it beyond remedy?" Mr. Casey said he believed money was now being spent for non-essentials that should be spent on the streets.

Everybody Invited
Mr. Casey said that he believed that who don't have the luxury of profuse individuals. The two weeks spent at the summer resort hotel will put you in a class with those who pay double-clas rent all year.

Fine Chin Food
And then there's the vacation spent with relatives. This always proves a large success with both parties—when you're leaving. The vacation with relatives offers a chance to renew old family-law squabbles, and have something to chin about the rest of the year.

Now, after going through this collection of vacation suggestions, if you don't find one that settles the question, and decide to spend the vacation at home, you're right, both in mind and pocketbook.

Delegates Back Home
Today the Lowell delegates to the democratic convention, Humphrey O'Sullivan and Joseph P. Donahue, and the alternate, Miss Katherine McCarthy, are speeding homeward bound through Canada. It is expected that they will reach this city probably on Wednesday. When they arrive they will get the glad-hand from many admirers who have followed with a feeling of satisfaction their course of action in supporting the cause of Governor Cox at San Francisco. It is admitted that the Massachusetts delegates played a very important part in bringing about the nomination of the Ohio candidate, and as evidence of this it is pointed out that the friends of Cox would probably have been pleased had Senator Walsh consented to become the running mate of Cox.

As regards the feeling of local democrats toward the party nominees, it can be said that there are few who dissent from the opinion that the delegates made the wisest possible choice, and that Cox and Roosevelt will receive general and enthusiastic support in this section.

SUIT FOR $75,000

Sugar at 48 Cents a Pound the Cause

BOSTON, July 10.—Sugar at 48 cents a pound was the subject of a suit filed in the superior court today. The firm of Englebert, Hardt & Co. of Buenos Aires, through its member, Gustave Hardt, sued Frank N. Graves of this city, a wool dealer, for $75,000, alleging that on Aug. 15 last, he agreed to purchase 300,000 pounds of sugar at that price, but refused to receive it when it was shipped.

Damages of $75,000, representing the difference between a current market price of 23 cents a pound and the 48-cent rate alleged to have been provided by the contract, are sought. At the office of Mr. Graves, it was said no statement would be made until the case was heard in court.

DEL'S GARAGE

E. S. Desmarais, proprietor of Del's garage, has on hand a couple of Ford automobiles, which he is willing to sell at a sacrifice. These machines are as good as new and can be bought very cheap. They must be seen to be appreciated. Del's garage is a Ford service station where all kinds of Ford appliances as well as gasoline and oils can be purchased. This garage is located at 115 Allen street.

The store of O. F. Prentiss at 340-356 Bridge street, is the headquarters for mattresses and secondhand furniture. If you are in need of any household article, go to Prentiss', the store where you will get your money's worth.

WILLIAM W. PAYNE

A good man at his trade never works with dull tools, and a man who wants to keep his tools in good condition goes to William W. Payne. He fits, grinds and saws files at 32 Thorndike street. Mr. Payne is the man of the hour when tool grinding is concerned.

SILSBY'S TIRE SHOP

The famous Gate's half sole tire is still on sale at Silsby's Quality Tire Shop, 11-13 Andover street. This tire is a money saver for it is guaranteed for 5000 miles. It is puncture proof and costs half as much as other tires.

FATHICK COGGER

For your heavy teaming see F. Cogger, for he is equipped to do your work quickly and cheaply. Mr. Cogger also deals in sand, stone, crushed stone and gravel and owns a couple of steam shovels that are money and time-savers.

MENDLIK BROS.

The reason that many residents of this city are having the exterior of their buildings finished with Kelsstone is that this stone composition is handsome, lasting and inexpensive. Mendlik Brothers are the originators of Kelsstone in this city and since they introduced it here they have been busy. For all information concerning Kelsstone call up Tel. 3134 or send a postal to Mendlik Bros., 1515 Middlesex street and a representative of the company will call on you.

STORM HITS WESTERN PART OF STATE

SPRINGFIELD, July 10.—Severe damage by the electrical storm that struck the western part of the state yesterday was reported from various towns and cities. Chicopee seemed to bear the brunt of the disturbance in this section, although there was damage to crops in many sections.

A partially constructed building of the Springfield coach works was blown down in Chicopee. Granby road and Front street were deeply gutted by the heavy downpour of rain, and the tracks of the Holyoke Street Railway company, near Sand Hill, were covered to a foot deep for 300 yards with sand.

Telephone and electric light service was disabled by trees and branches being blown across wires.

House and street lights were put out of commission in Springfield by the storm that twice swept over the city. Several roads were badly washed out and trees were reported struck by lightning in several parts of the city.

Take freight shipments in lots of less than 10,000 pounds. In many instances this works a hardship on a firm which is anxious to get a lot of goods out of its factory, but is unable to move it because it does not meet the 10,000-pound requirement.

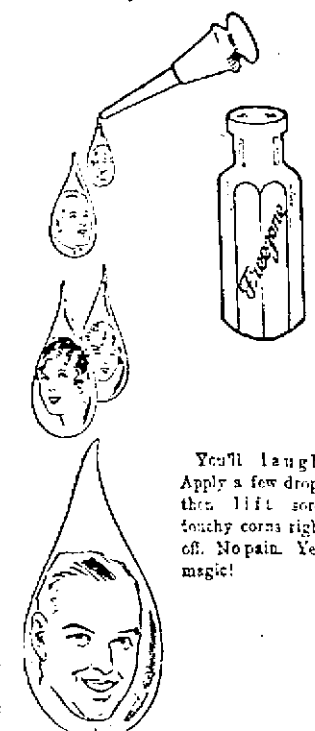

Under the pooling plan, the chamber of commerce traffic bureau will get in touch with some other firm wishing to send goods to the same destination and by pooling the two shipments will make up a single lot of 10,000 pounds, thus meeting the requirements of the railroads.

It is known that many Lowell firms have been compelled to hold back shipments for a month or more simply because of this difficulty. By keeping in close touch with the local shipping situation Manager Whitcomb hopes to relieve this trouble and expedite outgoing freights considerably.

To reduce fire danger, 400 miles of telephone lines will be installed in Canadian timber lands.

MAN O' WAR GREATEST HORSE IN WORLD

Being the greatest horse in the world certainly has its responsibilities. The blue-blooded turf lives like a prima donna of the stage. His eyes are as brilliant as the stars in a midnight sky and his skin like the velvety satin of a rose. Samuel D. Riddle of Glen Riddle, Pa., is the owner of the great three-year-old. That's him holding the silver bit as he admires the biggest chattel in thoroughbreds. Louis Feustel is chopping up the sweet scented hay which is mixed in Man o' War's mash of oats. After a gallop his sound, round hoofs are washed free from every particle of dirt. His shoes are forged of the bluest of steel by the most careful of shoemiths. Frank Loftus is shown in the picture applying the bandages to the wonder limbs of the horse that has come to be both his pal and religion. Surely no baby ever received more delicate care than Man o' War gets. After the mercury-footed colt had galloped a new world's record at Belmont Park—2.14 1-5 for a mile and three furlongs—Riddle was handed a blank check and asked to write in his own figures for his champion colt—but he returned it without a quiver of an eyelash.

$75,000 OFFER FOR DEMPSEY-BRENNAN

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 10.—An offer of $75,000 for a ten-round no-decision bout between Jack Dempsey and Bill Brennan here on Labor Day was telegraphed to the fighters' representatives yesterday by Mike Collins, local boxing promoter.

FIND SNOW BANK FIVE FEET HIGH

PORTLAND, Me., July 10.—A snow bank five feet high was uncovered by workmen in the high school yard yesterday morning. Ashes, cinders, plaster and other debris shoveled out after the fire that damaged the east wing of the high school, Jan. 1, covering the snow, prevented it from melting.

BRUSH FIRE ALARM

A brush fire on the railroad tracks in the rear of Waugh street, was responsible for a telephone alarm at 1:35 o'clock this afternoon. No damage.

HARDING FOR TEAM WORK

If Elected Will Invite Vice President to All Cabinet Meetings

MARION, Ohio, July 10.—In order to benefit by the judgment of his "chief partner," Senator Warren G. Harding announced today if he should be elected president on the republican ticket, the vice president would be invited to participate in all cabinet meetings. This would be done, according to the announcement, for the purpose of bringing about "team work" between the president and vice president, while it is the senator's view that it would bring about greater co-operation between the executive and legislative departments. "Senator Harding believes," the statement says, "the country would greatly profit through this participation by the vice president in the cabinet conferences of the administration. It would not only elevate the office of the vice president, but would give to the president the sound advice and able assistance of his chief partner in handling the nation's affairs."

GREETINGS OF FRENCH NATION TO AMERICA

INDIANAPOLIS, July 10.—Greetings of the French nation to America are contained in a Bastille day message appearing in the current issue of the American Legion Weekly.

The message, written by Jules Jusserand, French ambassador to the United States, follows:

"Similar in the main objects, two wars, one when France came to the help of America in 1778, the other when America came to the help of France in 1917, have traits which make them unique in the history of the world. In both cases the helper said in advance he was fighting for a principle and would accept no recompense and he remained true to his word. "We French were put to the test, since even after Yorktown, in the hope of a separate peace no less an offer than that of Canada was put to us. We refused."

"What we did in 1778 had no precedent and never was imitated with equal risks until you duplicated it on a scale commensurate with the enormous effort required by modern warfare, the spirit being the same as ours in 1775, a fight for principle, all recompense discarded. The true recompense was in both cases victory and the triumph of the idea for which we had fought."

"Nations like men have their faults. We need not be blind to each other's shortcomings and it may be for the good of both that, in some cases we mention them to each other. But three faults should be observed: First, we should not blindly call faults what may be only differences; second, no shortcomings should diminish the admiration due to heroism, love of freedom, abnegation; third, when recompense has to be made it must be purged of the poison of sarcasm and irony. Let us in sincere accord keep the fire of friendship burning brightly."

NO FIGHTING IN PEKING

PEKING, July 9 (By the Associated Press).—The diplomatic corps here has warned the government that in case of an uprising there must be no fighting in this city and that Peking was not to be subjected to bombardment. Forces commanded by Tuan Chi-lui, former premier and minister of war, are surrounding Peking.

General Wu Pei-fu, who has been relieved of government troops in China, is near Pao Ting-fu, 30 miles south of here.

TELEPHONE ALARMS

There were three telephone alarms this morning, the first at 3:17 o'clock for a fire in a kettle of fat at Smith's pork store in Graham street; the second at 5:45 o'clock for a chimney fire at 11 Shaffer st. and the last at 8:12 o'clock for a blaze in a tar kettle in Canada street. No damage.

Experiments are being made in equipping lighthouses with radio to send guiding signals to ships.

The only country in Europe that exported sugar in 1919 was Czechoslovakia.

THE BOYS IN THE OTHER CAR

BY GROVE

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

TO WILLIAM WOODPECKER'S

"Tap, tap, rat-a-tat-tat!" they pounded again at the W. Woodpecker's apartment in Maple Tree Flats.

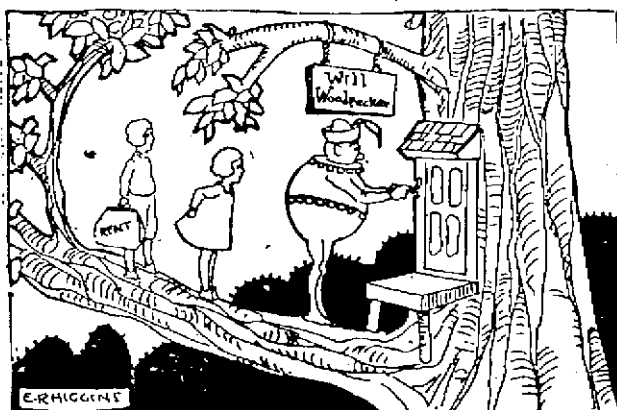

He was still collecting rents and Nancy and Nick, the twins, were still with him, as it was so easy for them to climb around in their little magical Green Shoes.

They were still searching for Jacko, their missing toy-monkey, not that they expected to find him in some of the teeny-weeny houses they visited, but they hoped to get some news.

"Rat-a-tat-tat!" they pounded again at the W. Woodpecker's. But nobody came.

After they had hammered about six times, a sleepy voice called out, "For goodness sake, William, do stop bawling so silly. Do you think I'm going to leave the eggs and answer the door just to quiet your poundings? Come on in and behave!"

"Gad zoeks," grumbled the fairman, "she thinks we're her husband. Say! Don't let on and we'll have some fun with her."

"RAT-A-TAT-TAT," THEY POUNDED AGAIN AT THE W. WOODPECKER'S

Besides they were quite a help to Tingaling, carrying things for him as he collected. Already the big pocket-book was full of money and Nick's trouser pockets and Nancy's apron pockets were getting heavy with the overflow. The Magical Mushroom was feeling as crowded as a sardine.

But you've no idea how many people lived in the Land-of-Deer-Knows. Where, nor what a job it was to get all the rents. They weren't a half, nor a third, nor even a tenth through collecting.

So lifting the knocker he pounded harder than ever. You'd have thought it was the Greeks bombarding the walls of Troy. (Hunt up your books, kiddies, and find out what that means!)

But just as he had finished they heard the rustle of the real William's wings, so they dodged behind a branch. And just as Will hopped down to his own doorway, the door opened from within with a jerk.

Uprising in China Reported

WASHINGTON, July 10.—The American legation at Peking advised the state department today that the Anfu party in China, headed by Tuan Chi-Jui, former premier and minister of war, and General Hsu Shu-Ching, formerly vice minister of war, had risen against President Hsu Shih-Chang, following the dismissal of General Hsu. A force under Tuan was reported to be advancing on Pao-Ting-Fu to attack Tsao Kun and Wu Pei-Fu. Pao Ting Fu is about 30 miles south of Peking.

Denies Suffrage Failure in California

SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 10.—In compliance with a request from Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, suffrage leader, Governor Stephens has sent a telegram to Governor Roberts of Tennessee, denying the statements of Annie Beck of Los Angeles to the Tennessee legislature, that suffrage has proved a failure in California.

Report Bolshevik Invasion of Persia

LONDON, July 10.—A new Bolshevik invasion of Persia is reported in a despatch to the Daily Mail from Teheran. The despatch quotes the Teheran newspapers of Wednesday as saying that four Bolshevik warships had arrived at Meshed-I-Ser, (on the Caspian sea, 11 miles northwest of Barfurush) and landed troops.

THROUGH WITH MEXICO

Mamie Breen Says That One
"Con Carne" Revolution is Enough

(By JACK CARBERRY)

N.E.A. Staff Correspondent
NUEVO LAREDO, Mex., July 10—Mamie Breen's through with Mexico.

"Believe me," Senatoria Mamie confided to custom officials, "these con carne revolutions is awful. They may be history, but since I ain't writin' that stuff, I'm through."

Mamie Breen, of Salt Lake, entered Mexico two years ago. She crossed the border with a California girl after "jumping" a small time tabloid show at Los Angeles.

Johnny Barragan discovered her at the "Flaca"—the blond, "second from the left" in the opening chorus.

Johnny—General Juan Barragan, press dispatches call him—was a sure enough Carranza general—whose father, John Sr., lives in San Antonio, Texas.

General Juan was rapidly establishing a reputation as the "lady killer" of Mexico City. He had six brunette sweethearts, but he loved the blonds, too.

So he gave Mamie one of his pet lion cubs which used to arouse the wonder of the bourgeoisie in the Pasco de la Reforma.

His "Family" Grows
Johnny's sweetheart "family" increased, but Mamie says she always remained his favorite blond. She had three motor cars and an apartment, in addition to the cub lion.

Her story of the flight to the border after Carranza's overthrow was told as she sat on a suitcase at the little customs office here.

"Now don't think I'm knocking Johnny," Mamie warned, "for he's a swell old guy. Why, he had 23 of us girls all fixed up with apartments, and automobiles and everything!"

"Then the revolution came," Johnny routed us all out of bed one morning about 3 a. m. and told us to pack up. I took everything I could find.

"Johnny was in full charge of Carranza's 21 trains, and just to show what a nutty old guy he was, he took all the lions along with him.

"We got out of Mexico City and a train ran off the track. Johnny hollered for the wrecking crew. He didn't know until then that he'd put it last in the string of trains, where it was no use.

"Well, Johnny was looking out for his 'family' and us girls didn't care, for he'd just made us millionaires, almost, giving me $20,000.

"Then they started fighting, but Johnny didn't want to get all messed up, so he took us girls up in the hills, and we built a camp.

"That would of been swell, only a couple of other generals came around and said they needed Johnny and made him leave us, defenseless and everything.

"After two days the Oregon army came and got us and they took all our money and jewelry. They took my lion cub away from me, too, and said it belonged to the country. Then they told us to beat it for Vera Cruz.

"Before we got there the plague hit the town and so we came north. That's how I'm here, and that's why I'm through," Mamie concluded.

"Poor Old Guy!"

"Johnny got captured, too. I've

Official "Cupid" Is Shot By Arrow From Her Own QuiverMrs.
Harold M. Davis.

TACOMA, Wash., July 10.—The girl who issued the marriage licenses to 3500 veterans of the 51st and 15th divisions has married a soldier.

She was Miss Lois Roberts, official "Cupid" of the county auditor's office here. She has resigned her place at the big black book to become Mrs. Harold M. Davis of Minneapolis.

For more than two years Lois Roberts presided at the counter where bashful swains brought their blushing sweethearts. She filled out the parchments, registered the names, and directed the couples to the justice of the peace or the nearest minister.

Even in ordinary times it was never a dull job. For Tacoma is a veritable Gretna Green.

But, when thousands of youths gathered at Camp Lewis, on Tacoma's doorstep, to learn how to be soldiers, Lois Roberts' work became the liveliest in the court house.

Californians, Idahoans, Montanans, Alaskans, clerks, lumberjacks, miners and cowboys, preachers, bankers and doctors, all wearing the khaki of the new army, marched in review with their brides-to-be, past Lois' counter.

With the 51st was Lieut. Harold M. Davis of Minneapolis. His father was an old and intimate friend of D. E. Roberts, so he called around to pay his respects. He met Lois. He called again, and again. When he called away for France, he left a collar ornament behind, and a college fraternity pin.

He came back a few weeks ago to get his "frat" pin and his officer's insignia—and Lois.

SEN. HARDING SILENT ON PROHIBITION

MARION, Ohio, July 10.—Senator Harding, the republican candidate for president, was urged to take a firm stand in support of national prohibition in his speech of acceptance at a conference yesterday with J. Frank Hanly, prohibition candidate for president in 1916. Later it was announced the senator had not committed himself regarding the matter, while Mr. Hanly said he hoped to be able to support him, but "would wait to see what the senator said in his speech."

Regarding the conference, Senator Harding said Mr. Hanly only "presented his views as to the construction of the platform as others have done," adding "we are always glad to listen."

Plans for officially notifying Senator Harding of his nomination were announced yesterday following a conference between the nominee and T. Coleman Du Pont of Delaware, chairman of the committee on arrangements for the republican national committee and Harry M. Daugherty of Columbus, the senator's manager in the pre-convention campaign.

The event will take place at 2 p. m., July 22, in Garfield park on the outskirts of Marion, with National Chairman Will H. Hays presiding. Following the signing of the "Star Spangled Banner" by the Republican Glee club of Columbus, invocation will be pronounced by Rev. T. H. McAfee, pastor of Trinity Baptist church of Marion, which the senator attends. Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, permanent chairman of the Chicago convention and chairman of the notification committee, will then deliver an address notifying the senator of his nomination, to which the nominee will reply. Following the signing of America, the ceremonies will close with a benediction by Rev. Joseph M. Deering of St. Mary's church of Marion. Announcement also was made that members of the republican national committee and the committee on arrangements are to be held in Columbus on July 21.

Fit Coiffure With Neckwear to Bring
Out Lines of Beauty in Each

(By CORA MOORE)

New York's Fashion Authority
NEW YORK, July 10.—Extremely important each to the other's success are the coiffure and the dressing of the neck, a fact about which women should know more and profit by their knowledge.

Just now a variety of styles in hair-dressing are in vogue. Some advocate permanent waving, some others advise in favor of what they call "summer transformations," of which one must have two, one to wear while the other is being dressed, and which are especially designed to insure a neat coiffure in the hottest, stickiest of summer weather.

Of course, having one's own hair dressed in preferable where it is possible.

In any case, the coiffure selected, the neckline comes into consideration.

To illustrate, here are three girls from the Zeitgeist Midnight Follies, each showing a type of neckwear particularly well suited to the way in which she dresses her hair, in each instance her own natural hair.

The broad effect and smooth locks of Miss Reed, accentuated by the ear pads, takes kindest to the long pointed fichu, while the piquant expression of Irene Marcellus, with the pouting lips and youthful curls, can stand the low, square neck with its modified Medici collar. Then there is Betty Morton's clear-cut profile which is most admirably set off by her wavy, sharply-done coiffure, the psyche knot producing precisely the right line with the profile. With the coil no other mode of neck dressing could suit her as the combination of square revers and v-shape opening.

SAYS H. C. L. DRIVE CLOAK
FOR PALMER BOOM

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 10.—Questioning of a dozen witnesses by the senate committee investigating campaign expenditures yesterday resulted in charges that high cost of living bureau established by the department of justice were "political enterprises" used primarily to "bring about the nomination of Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer for president by the democratic national convention."

Witnesses also declared that Edward Goltra, democratic committeeman from Missouri, distributed $150 cheques to St. Louis delegates to the state convention which was instrumental in the ousting of Senator James Reed of Missouri from his national convention seat. Goltra was declared by witnesses to be a supporter of Palmer, but a few also admitted receiving expense money from Tony Stuevers, a local capitalist, said to have been a supporter of Governor Cox.

The charges against the attorney general and the department of justice were made by Miss Olivia Brueggeman, formerly executive secretary of the Missouri women's high cost of living bureau, who declared she was "dismissed because I was a republican."

The statements concerning Goltra were made by democratic city committeemen who were delegates to the state convention. They declared that they "were for Reed" and "against Palmer," but accepted the money from Goltra under the supposition that it had been raised among the democrats. Their expenses already had been paid to conventions, they said.

Senator Reed was a spectator at yesterday's sessions. He did not care to "mix in an investigation which so vitally concerned himself," he said, and attended merely to complete a quorum.

The committee will meet again today to hear additional witnesses. After today's session, it expects to disband temporarily as Goltra and Joseph Davis, struggling in connection with the Palmer inquiry, are not expected to reach here from San Francisco for several days.

The attention of the committee, as the hearing moved, was centered on the reported distribution of $2000 among the 23 members of the city democratic committee by Edward F. Goltra of St. Louis, democratic national committeeman from Missouri, to help defray the expenses of delegates to the state convention in St. Louis.

Goltra, Joseph T. Davis, a local attorney, and one of the city committeemen, were summoned to testify yesterday. Neither Goltra nor Davis, who returned from San Francisco, has been heard from since.

It was pointed out, particularly the attention of the delegates and congressmen, that the money was distributed in a very irregular manner, and that the money was distributed in a very irregular manner, and that the money was distributed in a very irregular manner.

The first name mentioned was that of William H. Reed, who was made by the House in 1918.

HIP-LENGTH BOX COAT,
FEATURES CHIC SUIT

(By CORA MOORE)

New York's Fashion Authority
NEW YORK, July 10.—For the occasional cool day that always serves to make summer more enjoyable, there is nothing so practical as the simply-cut suit of mouline or French serge. Here is an excellent suggestion for a model.

The skirt is straight, fitted a bit upward at the back to produce a narrow effect from the front, with small self-covered ball buttons down either seam from the hip line and then a hip-length box coat of latest date and most approved cut, namely, with the short line under the arms.

A tucker of plaited chiffon with a Model collar belongs with the suit, to match the serge, with a reversed-hair feather at one side.

Lady Lookabout

After the many long years of waiting of enduring rebuff after rebuff, and a disappointment after disappointment, it is amusing to every woman to see the two great political parties of the country actually fighting for the credit of having given suffrage to women. Judging from press statements, the republican party is in the lead in the contest to take immediate and favorable action on suffrage for women. To be sure, the good man did not venture the request until he was asked to express his wishes in regard to that state. The move of the G.O.P. suffrage leaders, conducting enrollment in the early out of joint because it was a campaign. As far as I have yet heard, these campaigns are in favor of made this brilliant move. As yet it is the republican party, and already thou-

This Very Attractive Outfit Can Be Copied In Any Colored Organdie

(By CORA MOORE)

New York's Fashion Authority
NEW YORK, July 10.—Here is a simple costume belonging to Elaine Hammerstein's summer outfit, that is exceedingly attractive and could be copied in any colored organdie. This particular one is a pale orchid tint. The hat is one of those flare-brimmed shapes that are soft yet have a distinct and distinguished line to them.

The underbrim is of organdie a trifle deeper in tone than the soft crown. An organdie band and smart bow complete the hat.

The frock has a blouse with a deep roll-over collar, short sleeves and a sash that is cut wider in front to form a girldle effect, then ties in a butterfly bow at the back.

sands of women throughout the state have enrolled as republicans.

Of course there is not now, as there never was, anything to prevent a woman from exercising her prerogative and changing her mind, and there is no doubt that many of these embryo republicans will develop into full-fledged democrats. Nevertheless it would be more satisfying to all concerned to see the democratic party hustling to secure a share of these 600,000 voters.

Merits of Woman Suffrage

Not as a matter of unusual interest, nor even to satisfy a normal feminine curiosity but perhaps in order to feel that one's surmises have proven correct, would I care to know Miss Annie Bock's honest purpose in changing from the country's most ardent supporter of suffrage to an embittered anti.

For many years this woman fought for equal suffrage in California. Repeatedly she met the arguments of anti and one by one she broke them down and finally saw the women of her home state enfranchised. Now she regrets it. To quote from her letter urging the Tennessee legislature not to support the suffrage amendment: "A year in politics has taught me that women are intolerant, radical, revolutionary and more corrupt in politics than men."

Since suffrage there has been an an alarming increase in immorality, divorce and murder in California."

It would be interesting to know just who the woman is and just what dreadful thing she has done to Miss Bock to produce such a change of mind. Was it a social snub? Did she out-general Miss Bock at her own game? Or, saddest of all has Miss Bock lived long enough to see herself ousted from her position of leader by some younger and, perhaps, sadder than all some fairer woman? Any reasonable person will allow that Miss Bock's one year in politics, that age-old game, is hardly sufficient to make such a sweeping denunciation of the female part of the electorate. Women are new to the game and are bound to make serious blunders. It would be unfair to them to disenfranchise them for these blunders. The thousands and thousands of young men who annually join the electorate by virtue of having attained their majority, make the same blunders, but who would have the temerity to suggest that no more young men be granted suffrage? Given a few years of voting and every one of them becomes letter perfect in the matter of managing a government. If you do not believe it ask them. None, least of all a state legislator, should allow himself to be unduly influenced by the remarks of a disgruntled woman.

HOMES FOR EMPLOYEES

Building of Many Homes by Large Industrial Corporation, Predicted

NEW YORK, July 9.—The next few years will witness a tremendous amount of home building by large industrial corporations, according to a statement issued by S. W. Straus & Co., who say:

"As the season advances, building conditions throughout the United States are growing more acute, and we cannot hope for complete and permanent economic stabilization until the nation's housing problem has been solved. Not only must there be ample housing facilities, but homeownership must be given immediate and substantial encouragement."

"In effecting the minimum of labor turnover and in fostering a broad spirit of loyalty, co-operation and contentment among the workers, the industrial corporations of the country will find that the development of home owning practices among their employees will do more practical good than any other expedient. When a man acquires his own home he feels, as never before, a sense of responsibility in the preservation of the orderly processes of business and realizes with keen enthusiasm the stabilizing value of thrift and prudent habits of life."

"There are many indications that we are coming into a new order of life in America, which will mean radical innovations in industrial financing. Large employers of labor will be prompted more and more in their desire to co-operate with employees in building homes which shall be owned eventually by the workers. This new spirit will manifest itself in a tremendous amount of home building in all the large industrial centers of the country during the ensuing few years."

"In harmony with these developments, and in order also to lend all possible encouragement to the nation's necessary building program, S. W. Straus & Co. have arranged to make loans in the form of first mortgage bond issues in amounts of $500,000 and upward, to responsible firms established industrial corporations engaged in the production of essential commodities, the proceeds to be devoted to the construction of dwellings for employees. We hope and believe other large lending institutions will offer the encouragement of their resources and prestige in advancing a great national industrial housing movement. It is our opinion that all possible steps should be taken both by extensive employers of labor and by financial institutions to the end that there shall be developed as speedily as possible a widespread home-building program, which will accomplish more than any other one feature toward the development of thrift, happiness and prosperity among the American people."

REAL ESTATE DEALERS

Thos. H. Elliott, real estate and insurance, offices 64 Central street, cor. Prescott, reports the following sales negotiated during the past week:

On behalf of the W. W. Cary company conveyance has been effected of the modern residential property at 90 St. Vernon street. The house is of full two and one-half story type with eight rooms and bath. The land involved in the transfer totals 4730 square feet. There is an excellent stable on the premises. The grantee is John Shanahan, who buys for personal occupancy.

Final papers have been passed in the transfer of a two-apartment parcel at 91 Crawford street, in the Pawtucketville section. The apartments have five rooms and bath each. Land to the amount of 3501 square feet is conveyed in the transaction. The sale is negotiated on behalf of Mrs. Anna G. Charles of Detroit, Maine. The grantees are Adelard Corbett and Charles E. Corbett. Messrs. Corbett purchase for purposes of investment.

On behalf of Mrs. Harriet S. Smith conveyance has been made of a building site situated on the westerly side of Webster street, near its junction with Princeton boulevard. The lot has an area of 8065 square feet with a street frontage of 50 feet. The grantee is Edward A. Howe of Somerville, Mass. Mr. Howe will erect a modern semi-detached house on the premises.

Final papers have been passed in the sale of a two-apartment property at 354-556 School street. The apartments have seven rooms and bath each. The land conveyed in the transaction approximates 5600 square feet. The sale is effected on behalf of Joseph E. Kelley and Margaret J. Kelley. The purchaser is Julia A. Corneek, who buys for combined purposes of occupancy and investment.

Also the sale of a large and modern two-apartment property at 408-410 Stevens street, in the Highlands section. The apartments have six rooms each, are heated by steam, lighted with electricity and modern in every detail. The land involved in the transfer totals 5522 square feet. The sale is negotiated on behalf of Vasilios Anastopoulos, the grantees being Joseph E. Kelley and Margaret J. Kelley. Mr. and Mrs. Kelley purchase for personal occupancy.

On behalf of Geo. H. Taylor of the C. I. Hotel company, conveyance has been made of a two-apartment parcel at 12-14 Mill street, just off Hosford square. The apartments have six and seven rooms, respectively. The land conveyed in the transaction totals 2067 square feet. The grantee is Vincent Silva, who buys solely for investment purposes.

Final papers have been passed in the sale of a two-apartment house at 37 Madison street. The apartments have six rooms each. Land to the amount of 2624 square feet is conveyed in the transaction. The sale is negotiated on behalf of Cornelius O'Day of this city, the grantee being Antonio Inamorado, who buys for combined purposes of occupancy and investment.

Also the sale of a two-apartment property at 129-131 Midland street, at its junction with South Wilder street. The apartments are thoroughly modern and have five rooms each. The land involved in the transfer totals 5165 square feet. The sale is effected on behalf of Katie M. Gray, the grantee being Dr. James H. Rooney. Dr. Rooney purchases for investment purposes.

On behalf of Richard Cummings, formerly of this city, now of North Andover, conveyance has been made of the two-apartment parcel at 16 Sargent street, near its junction with School street. The apartments have five and six rooms, respectively, and are equipped with steam heat and bath. The land conveyed totals 3575 square feet. The grantee is J. P. Carroll, buying for investment purposes.

Sales by E. P. Slattery, Jr.

Edward P. Slattery, Jr., Strand building, reports the following sales made through his office for the past week:

Final papers have been placed on record in the sale of the property situated at 1-3 Hampshire st., Centralville. The house contains two apartments having seven rooms, pantry and bath to each tenement. About 5000 square feet of land is conveyed. Morris Lemkin is the grantor while the grantees are Bridget and John Curley, who buy for personal occupancy.

Also the sale of the property situated at 760-762 Broadway. The property consists of a two tenement house having six rooms each with steam heat, baths and pantries. Over 3100 square feet of land is contained in the deed. Michael Daly conveys title to Norah Shugrue.

WELL SELECTED BILL AT THE
MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
THE SUNDAY CONCERT

When you're hot and tired and weary and feel that you can't move another step in this warm weather, drop into the Merrimack Square theatre, enjoy the cooling breezes wafted in even on the warmest of days by this theatre's ventilation system and watch the best stars of the screen entertain in their latest productions. What could be more inviting during the summer months?

The Sunday concert at the Merrimack Square will be of the usual high standard.

standard. Vivian Martin, one of the daintiest of film stars and always a popular favorite in Lowell, will be seen in "The Home Town Girl," a pleasant story of suburban life. The other feature will be "The Steel King," introducing an all-star cast.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday will bring Charles Ray in "Homer Comes Home" and Billie Burke in "Away Goes Prudence" as the leading features.

"Homer Comes Home" is one of the most interesting and entertaining of exceptional appeal and interest.

"Away Goes Prudence" (Charles Ray) is a Mack Square will be of the usual high standard.

vills by everyone but pretty Rachel Prouty, who thinks the world of him. Homer's rival is Arthur Machin, son of the local hotel proprietor. Rachel's father, Silas Prouty, is under financial obligations to the hotel man and hence looks with favor upon Arthur as a prospective son-in-law. Homer, through the ludicrous failure of his last pet scheme, loses his job as helper in Francy's garage and leaves for New York.

In the city he becomes a clerk for Bailey and Kurt, big Wall street promoters. Taking his tip from a chance remark of Mr. Bailey he decides to spend his vacation in Maineville. He has saved up $200 and with it he indulges in a big spree in his home town. His townspeople look upon him as a man of importance and readily fall in with his scheme to sell stock for a big factory. Homer leaves again for New York, this time with his pockets full of bills, and when he tells his employers of what he has done they agree to buy the factory as a reward for his promoting ability and make him general manager.

A pretty love story runs through the picture and from every angle it is one of the most interesting story photoplays shown here in some time. The other big feature for the first half of the week, "Away Goes Prudence," starring Billie Burke, tells the story of a young woman who has become bored with society life, runs away and holds herself for ransom. The picture is a most interesting and entertaining story.

A Sennett comedy, "Gee Whizz," and "Poples of the Day" will round out the bill for the first half of the week. Thursday, Friday and Saturday's features will be Lew Cody in "Butterfly Bill" and Bessie Barriscale in "The Notorious Mrs. Sands."

BIG BILL AT THE STRAND—GLISTENING STARS IN NEXT WEEK'S BILL—SUNDAY CONCERT

Credit General Manager Thomas F. Sorletto of the Strand to another bullseye. His selection of next week's programs are unquestionably among the most commendable ever offered a local public and will no doubt meet with the unqualified approbation of the patrons of superior brand of motion pictures. Alice Brady, daughter of William Brady, well known theatrical man and a producer of some of the screen's stellar offerings, will be seen at last in "Sinners" and Frank Mayo will appear in "The Girl in Number 29."

For the last three days of the week, commencing with the matinee on Thursday, J. Stuart Blackton's big production, "The Blood Barrier" with Sylvia Dreaumer, Robert Gordon and an all-star cast, will be presented. The other feature with the twin laugh, "Nothing but Lies," with Taylor Holmes in the starring role. It's hardly possible to get a bigger or stronger bill together for the screen. Certain it is that no better bill has been offered the playgoers of this section in seasons.

For the sacred concert on Sunday the management has arranged for a series of vaudeville acts—five in number—and ten reels of the better brand of motion pictures.

Were you ever falsely accused? Made to suffer because someone jumped at conclusions and then repented about it? That's the theme of Owen Davis' drama, "Sinners," which had a long run as a stage play with Alice Brady as his star, and is to be shown with the same clever miss in the stellar role on the Strand screen for the first three days of the coming week. This story offers Miss Brady a wonderful opportunity to display her remarkable ability as an emotional actress. Briefly, the story is this—Mary Horton is a country girl, who has been reared in a rather narrow environment. Her world is the little village of Pommel Point. The city beckoned to her and she came—came and fell among sinners. But at the crucial moment she is drawn back from the brink of despair and returns to her home town. There she is followed by the sinners, and the peace of the still little home is threatened with the unfolding of one of life's coarse and brutal dramas. But love overcomes, and Mary finds her true happiness in the little town she at first despised. "Sinners" is one of those stories that loves one with a feeling of warmth and sympathy towards all mankind. It's bound to please all who are fortunate enough to see it. It has just the right combination and proportion of laughter and tears; a story that thrills and makes you feel that life is sweet—and home is sweeter. See it!

A mystery story that seems destined to end in tragedy but which develops a twin of comedy and finally results happily for all concerned is "The Girl in Number 29," in which Frank Mayo appears for the first part of the week. The plot centres around Lorie Devon, who, with a close friend, has written a successful play. Satisfied with his success, he refuses to write more, so his sister, Lorie, is left to stimulate his interest in life. What they do and how they accomplish what they do is out to do is very cleverly and most entertainingly done. Mr. Mayo is seen in a most pleasing role, and he receives the support of a capable cast headed by Claire Anderson.

For the last three days of the week, beginning with Thursday's matinee, Sylvia Dreaumer and Robert Gordon, supported by an all-star cast, appear in "The Blood Barrier." The plot of the story revolves about a triangular romance and the efforts of a foreign agency to recover valuable dye formulas. A jealous husband and some clever spies raise a blood barrier between two staunch friends and is filled with thrills and romance. Miss Dreaumer enacts the role of the wife whose love for her husband turns to hate because of his insane jealousy. Mr. Gordon portrays the part of a major in possession of secret dye formulas that formerly belonged to Germany. Others in the cast include William R. Dunn, Louisa Dean and Margaret Barry. Taylor Holmes is bowling funny in the big comedy success, "Nothing but Lies," which will be one of the features for the week-end. The story has to do with the efforts of a young man to cover a friend's mistake, made at the institution of a radical young woman who is known to her friends and the police as Miss Rosie, a regular she-bolshievisit of the indoor and business type. The story has possibilities for a full measure of humor and the police as Miss Rosie, a regular she-bolshievisit of the indoor and business type. The story has possibilities for a full measure of humor and the police as Miss Rosie, a regular she-bolshievisit of the indoor and business type.

ANOTHER ONE OF THOSE TOP-NOTCH PROGRAM AT THE OWL THEATRE

There is an A-1 program at the Owl theatre tomorrow, and whether it be hot or cool, just step in and judge for yourself of the efforts of the management to please its patrons. The leading feature tomorrow is Henry B. Walthall, one of the greatest actors in the films, in "His Robe of Honor." A close second is Bessie Barriscale in "The Woman Michael Married," which certainly sounds like a good picture. In addition, there are several shorter reels and four tip-top acts of vaudeville.

Some time ago Zane Grey, the famous novelist, issued a statement regarding the film version of his picture, "The Desert of Wheat," which in picture form is "Riders of the Dawn," in which he said: "The same characters, the same locale, the same background of limitless deserts of wheat, that greatest of foods, appear in my sequel, with some plot events, which, so closely related to the original novel, would not be found in any published sequel. I am sure that my readers will appreciate seeing the characters of 'The Desert of Wheat' brought to life as I have seen them in this picture, and I heartily recommend it to them as the finest picture ever made from one of my stories."

"Riders of the Dawn" is the picture that is to play all next week at the Owl theatre. In the cast are Roy Stewart, Claire Adams, Robert McKim, Joseph J. Dowling, Violet Schram, Frederick Starr, Marc Robins, Marie Messinger, Frank Brownlee and Arthur Morrison. Hugh Ryan Conway, director of "Lombardi, Ltd.," and a score of other cinema successes, supervised the production of "Riders of the Dawn." The story depicts the adventures of Kurt Dorn following his return to the northwest wheat belt after a year's valiant service in the army overseas. After a royal homecoming reception Kurt learns that an organized band of plunderers, known as the "Hiders," has been operating in the section, including Tom Anderson, whose daughter, Lenore, has given her promise to wed him and remains faithful despite the sinister efforts of Henry Neuman, a young lawyer, to win her for his own.

Seeking to protect themselves, the farmers organize a battery of night riders with Kurt as leader. But the outlaws' depredations continue, for, enured at his failure to win Lenore, Neuman, who is the master mind of the desperadoes, sends them on to a series of crimes culminating in the murder of Anderson's youngest daughter, Kathleen, and the kidnapping of Lenore. The day preceding the capture of Lenore there appeared at the Anderson home a young French girl, who, despite Kurt's strong denial, insisted he had married her during his stay in France.

Suspecting Glidden, the nominal leader of the gang, Kurt traces him to the loft of the Anderson barn where he finds Lenore bound and gagged. In a furious fight that ensues Kurt overpowers Glidden, but not until after the barn has caught fire from Glidden's gunfire. From then on there is action, fast and furious to page 7—second section

RUTH SECOND AMONG BATTING LEADERS

CHICAGO, July 10.—With a new world's record within his grasp, Babe Ruth, the New York slugger, today is driving towards the batting championship of the American league. Repeating in fourth place a week ago, the home run king is now second in the list of batters with an average of .356—33 points behind George Sisler, the St. Louis star, who is leading the league. Ruth passed the veteran, Tris Speaker of Cleveland, and Joe Jackson of Chicago, who are tied for the third place honors with .345. Sisler, in first place, is batting .415.

Ruth, connected with 13 hits in nine games during the past week in addition, he pulled away from Speaker for scoring honors. He has crossed the plate 78 times, while the Clevelander is two runs behind him.

Ries of Washington continued to turn the bats and is far out in front among the base stealers with 35 thefts.

Hayes of Boston, pitcher, outfielder and pinch hitter, dethroned Roger Hornsby as leader among the National league batters, who have participated in 10 or more games. He is batting .403 for 47 games, in which he cracked 20 hits in 72 times at bat. Hornsby, however, is the real leader among the regulars with a mark of .378, made in 15 games. Hornsby of Chicago, had tied the St. Louis star as a run-getter, having crossed the plate 50 times.

C. Williams of Philadelphia delivered his weekly home run and is leading in clutch drives with nine. Max Carey, the Pittsburgh outfielder, stole three more bases and is far in front of the base stealers with 25 thefts.

HAVERHILL FIREMEN
TRIM LOWELL BOYS

The Lowell fire department set a well balanced team up to the Textile school campus yesterday afternoon to do battle with an aggregation representing the Haverhill firefighters and, after nine innings of baseball that ran from mediocre to brilliant, Chief Saunders' men were forced to admit that they had been bested. The score was 6 to 4.

It was a pretty game to watch, as amateur games go, with plenty of comedy to make up for any lapses of ball playing that might occur. Both pitchers were hit freely, base stealing succeeded or failed according to the weight of the runner and some perfectly childish fielding errors were made at inopportune times. But, nevertheless, it had its flashes of big league playing and the contest was kept a fairly even proposition for the greater part of the distance.

Symonds was on the mound for Lowell, with Gorman behind the bat. The Lowell binger showed puzzling wares at intervals, but seemed to lack enough confidence in his backstop to give the Haverhill men any prolonged tastes of his real speed. Walt, the visitors' moundman, gave evidence of having been in fast company and many of the spectators openly charged him with being a "ringer." But the charge was unjustified because every man who played was a genuine firefighter.

Both nines scored in the first inning, Haverhill one and Lowell two, and the visitors came back in their half of the second with another. In the third each outfit chalked up another run and from then on until the seventh the game was as pretty a contest as one could ask for. Haverhill annexed one run in the seventh and won the game in the eighth when two more runs were sent across. Lowell got back one in her half of the eighth, but was feeble in the ninth.

The lineups were—Lowell—Tighe and Crowe, 3b; Regan, ss; Mullin, 1b; Symonds, 4b; Stackpole and Haley, 2b; Mulligan, 3b; Christa, cf; Gorman, c; Rogers and Cunningham, rf.

Haverhill—Julier, 3b; Duffall, ss; Saunders, 2b; Walli, 1b; Miles, c; Short, rf; Dockham, cf; Esterbrook, 1b; Charon, lf.

O'Neill umpired and gave satisfaction. A crowd of several hundred including Commissioner John F. Salmon, Chief Edward F. Saunders, Commissioner George E. Marchand and Charles J. Morris, former commissioner of the fire department, was on hand to enjoy the fun.

Following the game the Haverhill players were the guests of the local department at the Palmer street station and after a luncheon had been served the visitors left for the down river city by automobile.

BABE RUTH CRACKS OUT
ANOTHER HOME RUN

NEW YORK, July 10.—Babe Ruth received a diamond opportunity today for the first time in his career, as he cracked out a home run in the eighth inning of the game between the Yankees and the Red Sox at Yankee stadium. The home run was the 10th of the season for the slugger, who is now batting .356.

The home run was the 10th of the season for the slugger, who is now batting .356.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The Crescent A.A. lined up against the fast West Chelmsford nine this afternoon at the latter's grounds. The Crescent outfit has its eyes on the city's championship and would like to hear from the K. of C. Graniteville 9 to the South. The winner would play in the city championship game on July 17. The Crescent defeated the Graniteville 9 by a score of 5 to 3.

The Young Tigers would like to come from the Clare A.A. on the Dwyer grounds. The manager can be seen on these grounds for challenges by evening between 7 and 9 or he may be reached by telephone, 8660. His outfit has recently defeated the Young Indians twice.

The Parkers would like to play the Merrimack at Lincoln park Sunday at 1.30. Call 3226.

The manager of Saunders' market team is anxiously waiting to hear from the Hobson-Lawler nine relative to a game.

The Barclay A.C. defeated the Stearns A.C. Thursday night by the score of 5 to 2. The winner would play in the city championship game on July 17. The Barclay A.C. defeated the Stearns A.C. Thursday night by the score of 5 to 2.

PETER COLEY WINS $5000
OHIO STAKE

NORTH RANDALL, O., July 10.—The Ohio stake of $5000 for 208 trotters, the feature of the week on the grand circuit program, went to an Ohio driver yesterday, when Peter Coley, driven by Charles Valentine of Columbus, won his three straight heats, all hotly contested. E. Colorado, driven by Walter Cox, was second and Peter June, driven by Ed Geers, third.

Peter Coley won the first heat in a slashing drive from Peter June, took the second from E. Colorado in a stretch sprint and won the third from Golden Super, in a hard drive.

Brudair, equal favorite in the auction betting with Peter Coley, was a keen disappointment to his backers. He was never prominent, finishing eighth in the first and third heats, and fourth in the second.

The Tavern "Steak" for 213 trotters, another $5000 event, was won by Alta Donovan, driven by Tommy Murphy, Alta taking the second and third heats, after finishing third in the first. Arlo Dickinson, driven by Keating, was second, and Ed Geers' Wiki Kiki third.

The 213 class, trotting, went to Walnut Prince when he captured the second and third heats after finishing second to Norman Dillon in the first one. All three heats were hard fought between Walnut Prince, Norman Dillon and Alceola, the latter finishing second in the second and third heats.

Edel Chinese, second choice in the betting, won the 213 class pace in straight heats, James Albert, the favorite, finishing second. The summary:

ROOSEVELT, LIKE COX, GREAT LOVER OF HORSES

sea lord of the Admiralty and direct the naval warfare against Germany. His vigorous policy caused him to be termed "the Kitchener of the British navy" and chief credit has been claimed for him for the bottling up of the German navy. Cabinet disputes led to his resignation in May, 1915, but he continued to serve the government in various capacities throughout the war, and was a prominent naval critic.

Lord Fisher was born on the island of Ceylon, January 25, 1817, and was the son of Captain William Fisher, of a Highland regiment stationed in the east at that time. He entered the navy when only 13 years of age, and was commissioned a lieutenant in 1830. From this time on, his rise in the service was continuous. He was married in 1846 to Miss Frances Broughton, who died in 1915. He is survived by one son and three daughters.

Was Popular Idol
Lord Fisher was for many years a popular idol in Great Britain, enjoying the affection and confidence of every rank of the people. He was known as the "father of the dreadnought" because he was the first to realize the vast power of this type of warship. During his terms as first sea lord, from 1901 to 1910, he virtually revolutionized the British navy. He entirely changed the old established and outworn strategic disposition of the fleet, and threw no less than 150 warships, from immense ironclads to light cruisers, into the scrap heap as obsolete.

Attacks Caused Sensation
Being a reformer by nature, Lord Fisher's attack on the British naval administration in September, 1913, in which he denounced the expenditures being made as "ruinous," might have been expected, but it caused a great sensation throughout the empire. Later Lord Fisher declared that in the submarine he saw the future sea fighter and that the development of aviation had made invasion of Great Britain impractical.

Lord Fisher had been seriously ill since early in May.

INVENTOR TO RISK LIFE
IN TEST OF SAFE

BOSTON, July 10.—Not to better himself, but to prove to the world that his steel-plated, fire, burglar and water-proof safe can float, Menotti Nani, Chicago inventor, will be locked in his invention and lowered from the pier at North End Park Sunday afternoon.

Certain of Success
If the feat is successful Nani, sponsored by his patrons, William Marconi and former Premier Nitti, will go to Italy and present his brain-child to the Italian government. Otherwise, should the steel tank remain at the bottom of Boston harbor, the inventor has left specific instructions to be buried in the invention which has cost him 10 years of labor and struggle.

But Nani has no intention of being laid away in steel so early in life. He declared yesterday that his invention, based on a newly-discovered scientific principle, will be the greatest asset of the age to ships which carry valuable cargoes of jewels, money and important documents. So constructed is the safe, said the inventor, that his strong box will float forever when dropped from a sinking ship, and cannot be opened without the combination to its triple door locks.

To prove his faith in his contraption Nani at 2 o'clock on Sunday afternoon will enter into the innermost compartment of his safe, which is air and water-proof, and permit Joseph Mammi, also of Chicago, his assistant, to lock all three doors of the strong box. Then the safe will be lowered on a rope to the water and the rope removed.

Nani will venture on his experiment equipped only with a specially-made oxygen helmet, which will supply air for 15 minutes. Nani expects the safe to rise within five minutes. When he does his assistant will unlock the doors and Nani will step out a success, so he says.

Family to Witness Attempt
Should the safe remain at the bottom of the sea and the oxygen run out, Nani has left behind a will which orders that his body be allowed to rest in the safe and the safe be buried in his home town in Italy, which is all the home town of the wireless wizard, Marconi.

Not alone will thousands of sightseers witness the daring deed, but the premier act of the afternoon will be performed in the presence of Mrs. Nani, his wife, and his four children who made the journey from Chicago to witness the feat. The inventor and his family will leave on the next boat for Italy to present the product of years of ceaseless research and labor to the king of Italy for use on Italian ships and subsequently for all ships throughout the world which encounter the dangers of the sea.

As Nani explained his invention yesterday, his floating safe is a steel-plated cylinder, 10 feet long and five feet in diameter. The tank is made up of three separate compartments, each having a regulation safe door.

Soviets Still Smashing On

It is located on the navigable river Bug, and is an important railway junction. Pinsk is located on the Pripiet river about 35 miles east of Brest-Litovsk. Vilna is the principal city of Lithuania and is about 25 miles northwest of Warsaw.

"We shall go before the grand jury and ask his indictment on a charge of murder," State's Attorney Hays said. "It is one of the most cold blooded and revolting crimes in Chicago's history. We shall ask an immediate trial and the rope."

Wants to Be Hanged
"I want to be hanged," Wanderer commented. "I hope to join her in death. I wonder if she will forgive me. Well, I loved her too much to let another man get her. But I didn't want her myself."

Wanderer said that he did not wish to desert his wife and join the army, but wished to be "free."

"I feel better with that off my chest," he added. "I had had dreams and the picture of the hallway with my wife lying there came back once in a while. I feel like a new man. And I'm ready to kick off whenever they want to take me."

One of the anatomies of the case, which misled the police for weeks, was the romance of the couple and their supposedly happy married life. Wanderer, who had never smoked, chewed, drank or indulged in stunts, had only one love affair, the one with Ruth Johnson, who became his wife at the conclusion of a war romance.

Only Girl He Ever Kissed
"She was the only girl I ever kissed," he told the police. He took her to church every Sunday. They married after the reluctant returned from France.

Wanderer's story of how the ragged stranger was hired to do the unwitting victim in the double murder was told by him in the same unemotional way he related the details of his wife's death. He picked up the man on the west side on the day of the murder by offering him a job as a truck driver.
